ROUSE POINT, N. Y., June 7.—The amount of liquor crossing the Canadian border today is limited solely by the amount which the rum runners believe they can dispose of at a profit.

The rum runners are more concerned with the market than with the source of supply or the difficulties of getting it across.

From Rouses Point, westward to Fort Covington, a stretch of sixty miles, a bootlegger's invasion of the United States is in full swing.

The federal prohibition agents are outnumbered 100 to 1.

The smugglers, working in relays through scores of booze houses that dot the territory west of Napierville and LaColle, Quebec, are pouring hundreds of automobile loads of every kind of liquor into New York state.

For Up-State Towns
Little of the Canadian liquor is finding its way through to New York City. The New York "hard stuff" is coming from the West Indies and British Isles as the Canadian bootlegger cannot compete with the low cost of all-water transportation enjoyed by the latter.

The dominion bootlegger finds his markets in the up-state towns of Albany, Syracuse, Troy, Glens Falls, Little Falls, Saratoga Springs, Rochester and Buffalo. A certain amount does seep south into northern Pennsylvania and thence into Ohio, where it finds its markets in Youngstown and even as far west as Indianapolis, but the bulk is consumed in the Mohawk valley.

Within a territory included in a roughly drawn triangle having its intersections at La Prairie in Quebec and at Malone and Chazy in New York, the country is grid-ironed by scores of roads, many of which cross the border half a dozen times in their course. Over these zig-zag whiskey trails the smugglers' motor trucks plunge in the dead of night, easily effecting crossings at any one of the many spots which federal agents are unable to guard.

Officers Outnumbered
There are thirteen customs officers at Rouses Point, and there are at Malone twenty-five prohibition officers, charged with the duty of stemming the tide. Engaged in jumping the border with liquor there are perhaps five thousand men, connected in one way or another, with the source, the delivery or the storing of liquor in the territory near the line. The number varies from day to day, but there are more than enough to overwhelm the handful of government agents.

In charge of the United States customs headquarters at Rouses Point is H. C. Ladd, deputy collector. He is not loquacious, but he has this to say about the border running situation:

"I need five more men to take care of the regular work. A year ago we seized perhaps twenty-five cars of liquor a month. I know they are going through now, but what can thirteen men do?"

"If some one tells us there is a carload of liquor coming over at a certain place we go after it. Otherwise there is little we can do."

It does not take one familiar with conditions to find that prevention of the liquor traffic in this section is more than a problem. It is an impossibility.

ORDER PROBE INTO LOSS OF ARMY AIRSHIP

Huge Dirigible Total Loss Following Spectacular Blaze During Electrical Storm.

DAYTON, O., June 7.—A military board of investigation today began an inquiry into the destruction by fire at Wilbur Wright field last night of the giant army dirigible TC-1.

Two of the crew were injured when the ship caught fire during a severe electrical storm. Sergeant Harry Barnes, Scott Field, Ills., A. C. Maranville of the Goodyear Rubber company were hurt when they jumped forty feet to the ground.

The TC-1 which cost $40,000 was a sister ship of the C-2, which burned last year at San Antonio, Texas. It had just completed a test flight from Scott Field, Ills., and was moored to a steel tower when struck.

KEYES TO OPEN FIGHT ON L. A. TORTURE MOB

LOS ANGELES, June 7.—Police this afternoon started a roundup of the band of men who Tuesday night kidnapped Frank Sanceri, alleged attacker of Astoria Jolly, 14, for the supposed purpose of whipping him to death.

Two men believed to be members of the band are under arrest. Information now in the hands of police, it is believed, will lead to the arrest of the others.

LOS ANGELES, June 7.—One of the first acts of Asa Keyes, the newly appointed district attorney, will be to conduct a thorough investigation of the terrible flogging administered to Frank Sanceri on Mount Hollywood by a band of men terming themselves "defenders of American womanhood" he announced today.

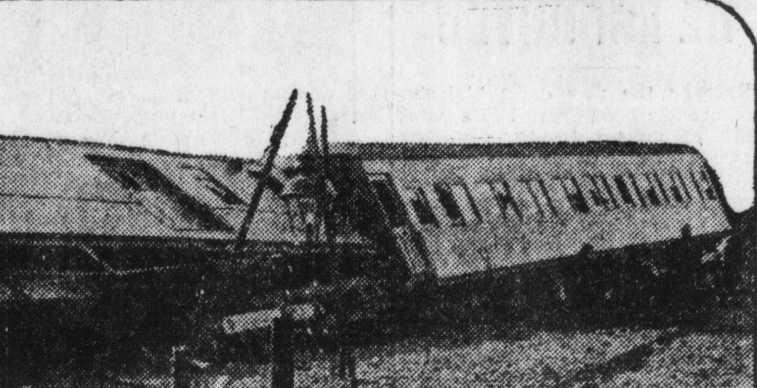

"This affair was distinctly un-American and reminiscent of medieval torture," Keyes said. "Sanceri was out on bail pending trial on a charge of assaulting 14 year old Astoria Jolly and all proper steps had been taken by the law to serve the ends of justice."

"No private agency or group can enforce the law in Los Angeles. When fathers, brothers or relatives take the law into their own hands the ends of justice are not served. They are not impartial and it is just the same as if they were allowed to sit on a jury."

"If private citizens take the law into their own hands to the extent of attempting to murder a fellow being they must be treated as law breakers themselves."

BURGLARIES INCREASING.
LOS ANGELES, June 7.—Burglaries here during the month of May set a new record, according to police statistics. There were 1107 reported during the month compared to 900 in April and 725 in the previous May.

WET FORCES WIN IN WISCONSIN BOOZE ROW

Chairman Adams Ready to Launch Republican Presidential Battle

(By United Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, June 7.—John T. Adams, chairman of the Republican national committee, will begin next week active preparations for the Republican presidential campaign of 1924.

Adams' first step will be a series of conferences with Republican national committeemen and state chairmen to bring about complete co-ordination of national and state party activities.

The first conference will be held in Boston on Tuesday, June 12. It will be attended by Republican national committeemen and state chairmen from the New England states.

A little later Adams will confer in Chicago with party leaders from the middle west. He probably will meet another group at Kansas City or St. Louis and will similarly cover the entire country.

Adams will see President Harding before he starts out on his tour. The president may take occasion at that time to set at rest reports that he will ask that Adams resign before the 1924 convention because of Adams' hostility to the world court proposal.

There is no longer much danger that this issue will divide the Republican party into hostile camps. President Harding will make it clear before the end of his fourth coming trip that he is ready to satisfy the demand of twenty-two Republican senators who served notice on him through Senator Watson of Indiana that they "had to be shown" that the court would not involve the United States in European entanglements or in the League of Nations.

The president took a step in this direction today in his letter to Bishop Gallor, head of the Episcopal church. He pointed out there, as he will point out again on his tour, that the United States cannot stand aloof and will not be come entangled. It can, and should, choose a middle course and this course Mr. Harding believes is represented by the world court. He will set forth his willingness to have the country satisfied by any needed safeguards that there will be no entanglements.

Unjust Accusations Plea In Wife's Suit

Claiming that her husband unjustly accused her of improper relations with other men, and that he cursed her and called her foul names, Rene Robbins, bride of a year, today brought suit for divorce in superior court here against her husband, Melford Robbins.

They were married in April, 1922, and since that time the defendant was unjustly jealous and obscene, she claimed. Marks and Launer, Fullerton attorneys, represented the plaintiff.

ARRESTS BLOCK NATION-WIDE BOOZE PLOT

(By United Press Leased Wire)
NEW YORK, June 7.—Counterfeits who manufactured fake liquor labels to pass off doctored booze as "real stuff" have been rounded up by the secret service in arrests which are believed to have thwarted a nation-wide plot. Millions of bogus revenue stamps, labels, fake medicinal prescriptions and printing paraphernalia were seized.

Sixteen are under arrest and more may be taken. Secret service agents who arrested the counterfeiters say the labels could have been used to disguise $25,000,000 worth of any kind of liquor so as to make it appear that it had been smuggled into this country from abroad or illegally withdrawn from bonded warehouses.

The gang worked in several groups. One division manufactured liquor of questionable purity; another made the fake labels, a third managed to withdraw liquor from bond under fake permits and the fourth dispensed the illegal wares of the other three.

The systematic raids were conducted over a 25-mile area in New York. Most of the thirteen were taken in Brooklyn. Three were found in Manhattan. Two already had been held on bail.

VOTE FAVORS REPEAL FOR DRY BILL

Drys Plan to Overcome Opponents In Upper House of Assembly

(By United Press Leased Wire)
MADISON, Wis., June 7.—The Wisconsin assembly, striking the first blow in the west at absolute prohibition, today approved the Tucker bill to repeal the state dry enforcement law and sent it to the printer for engrossment.

The vote of approval was 47 to 43.

The question of final passage in the assembly is expected to be decided in favor of the "wets" by virtue of the two 47 to 43 votes favorable to the measure today.

Shortly before the approval and engrossment vote, the assembly refused to kill the repealer by an identical ballot.

After final passage the measure would then go to the senate, which has killed a half dozen less drastic anti-prohibition proposals.

A hard fought battle of two hours preceded the decisive wet victory. Proposal for a referendum on the eighteenth amendment was defeated, 50 to 37 by the wets, who referred the bill to the judiciary committee, where it will be amended to provide for a referendum on the question of nullifying the Volstead act and providing for a memorial to congress.

A resolution congratulating Governor Al Smith "for his leadership in a movement to return to the constitution of our fathers" was introduced by Assemblyman Lindahl, wet floor leader. It failed to get the two-thirds majority necessary to bring about immediate consideration, the ballot count being 47 for and 39 against, and it was referred to committee. It will come up for consideration next week.

Copy of New German Plan Given Hughes by Ambassador Wiedfeld

PARIS, June 7.—The new German reparations offer is absolutely impossible," Premier Poincare stated today a few hours after the first condition demanded by France—cessation of the policy of passive resistance in the Ruhr occupation. Poincare said he did not believe a reply was necessary.

Guarantees mentioned in the offer are insufficient in themselves and the propositions regarding reparations are contrary to specifications of the treaty of Versailles, Poincare added.

SHRINERS TURN DOWN CHARTER APPLICANTS

(By United Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, June 7.—The imperial council of the Shriners today rejected all applications for charters for new temples.

Conservatives in the council won over those who favored increasing the number of temples.

The conservatives held new temples should not be established in localities near cities now having temples.

Sacramento, whose temple was put under "suspension" last year, automatically got a charter this year.

With a final day of pageantry, including an aerial circus put on by some of the most skillful flyers in the army and navy, and a water pageant on the Potomac river, the convention officially will end tonight. But actually the Shrine hosts will continue in possession of Washington until Sunday.

Formal elevation to their new offices of the members of the imperial divan was to occur today and Clifford Ireland of Peoria, Ill., will be sworn in as imperial outer guard.

The "Dance of the States" will be the concluding event tonight on the official program. The music of 100 bands will be broadcast to every part of the country as throngs here dance on historic Pennsylvania avenue.

Arrest Suspect in Kansas City Murder

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 7.—A man who answers the description of a tramp sought by local authorities in connection with the mysterious death of Guy A. Moore, former president of the Kansas City board of trade, was arrested at Liberty, Mo., late today, according to information received here.

Moore's body was found on the Milwaukee railroad tracks near here Sunday. Post-mortem revealed that he was slain before his body was run over by a train, six physicians reported today.

ORDERS 'SHEIK' HELD IN LOVE TANGLE CASE

As the state concluded its interrogation, Collins declined to question the witness.

Dorothy was the next witness to be called. Collins smiled at her, but she did not return the smile.

She testified that she had known the defendant but a few days before she was married to him here by Justice J. B. Cox March 26.

"Did you ever live with him as his wife?" Wetlin asked. "Only for two days," the girl replied, hesitatingly. "One day in Ontario, before he was arrested, and another at Arlington, after he was released the first time."

"Sheik" Remains Silent. Collins refused to testify, and also declined to question the second witness. The court then held him to answer in the superior court, and placed his bail at $1,000.

He went back to jail to await his arraignment in superior court, at an undetermined time after the district attorney has filed information against him.

Yesterday he stated that he intended to plead guilty and ask for probation, but his wives have different plans for him, they said.

"He's not going to plead guilty," Nell Ruth affirmed, and Dorothy flashed her dark eyes in determined approval.

"We had hired an attorney to defend him this morning, but the lawyer failed to appear," she said. "We don't want him to go to San Quentin because of us," Dorothy explained.

Tells of Love-Making. If you want to be a sheik, boys, be innocent appearing and don't pull any rough stuff.

That's the advice that Dorothy Martinez Collins gave today. "I don't know, myself, how Dick persuaded me," she admitted.

"I had only known him a few days. On Saturday he proposed marriage to me, but I didn't consent until the following Monday. "He seemed so innocent. He told me that he had never made love to anyone else, and from the way he did it, I believed him. "He wasn't like a lot of fellows that have made love to me."

Looked Into Eyes. "He didn't rush me. He would hold my hand and look into my eyes with that boyish, bashful gaze of his, and plead."

"Why, he never even kissed me until after we were married," she declared emphatically.

"He's a most convincing boy. Since this trouble, I have been angry at him, and come to the jail to reprimand him, but when he looks at me so sorrowfully, and asks me if I 'no longer trust him,' I relent."

Entertains Easterner

Miss Lenora Tompkins, 711 South Sycamore street, had as a celebrated guest earlier in the week, Georgia Kober, noted pianist and president of the Sherwood Music School of Chicago. During her stay in the city, Miss Kober visited the studios of the Santa Ana branch school in the Ramona building and expressed her pleasure at the thriving prosperity which she found there.

The Chicago pianist has been on a concert tour of California and her brief stay with Miss Tompkins was most happily spent in renewing a friendship dating back to days when the latter was a piano student under her.

Alleged Threat of Flogging Cited By Woman In Divorce

Charging that her husband, Earl O. Stoner beat their cattle with loaded whips and chains, and that when she protested, he cursed and threatened to duplicate the action on her, Katherine Stoner today filed answer and cross complaint in the desertion divorce suit brought against her recently in superior court here.

They were married June 4, 1921, she asserted. While they lived on a farm at Ventura, he beat the horses and cattle, and cursed her, causing her mental anguish, she claimed.

She was compelled to do men's work on the farm she said. Once, when she was assisting him in repairing a tractor, he asked her to hold a heavy steel wheel, and when, through lack of strength,

ROAD TO COAST HIGHWAY MAY BE IMPROVED

Because the new coast highway has recently been opened to a point south of Sunset Beach, residents between Wintersburg and Sunset Beach today were said to be giving serious consideration to an assessment plan whereby the dirt road between these two points would be paved and otherwise improved, in order to form an adequate connecting link with this scenic highway.

According to County Engineer J. L. McBride, no definite steps have been taken, but discussion has been general and a number of plans have been suggested by residents of the district. T. B. Talbert, chairman of the board of supervisors, was said to be doing everything possible to aid the property owners in working out tentative plans for possible improvements.

Cement Shortage Delays Work. At present many motorists, availing themselves of the opportunity to use the new coast highway, are following the Sunset Beach route in driving from Santa Ana to Long Beach.

"Although every effort is being made to complete the repairs now being done on the Long Beach road, west of Westminster," said County Engineer McBride here today, "the work has been delayed somewhat because of the non-arrival of cement to be used by the contractors. The first carload arrived yesterday and we will make every effort to secure additional shipments as rapidly as possible."

Detour Not So Rough. Wells and Bressler, contractors, said it was problematical when the three-mile stretch of road will be completed because of lack of cement. In the meantime, every effort has been made to improve the detour made necessary by the closing of the Westminster road, McBride said.

"This detour, while rough in spots, is not as bad as it has been pictured by some speed-lovers," said McBride. "I made a personal inspection of the detour and watched some of the drivers in their attempts to rush over it. Many of them tried to make thirty-five miles an hour, instead of taking a leisurely pace of fifteen or twenty miles an hour. If you drive too fast on a dirt detour, it follows that you will be shaken up considerably."

S. A. CHAPTER OF DE MOLAY TO MEET

Expressing the belief that the Santa Ana chapter should be represented at least by each member of its advisory board, C. J. Cogan, chairman of the board of Santa Ana chapter of DeMolay, today announced a special meeting of the board for tomorrow evening, at 7 o'clock, at the Masonic temple. Consideration of plans for attending the first convocation of the thirty Southern California chapters of the Order of DeMolay, to be held June 20 at 10:30 a. m. in the rooms of the Southern California chapter, Los Angeles, is scheduled.

The organization is composed of youths between the ages of 15 and 21 years. There are sixty-seven chapters in the state. According

The convocation will be opened by Marshall Stewart, founder of the order in Southern California. Swingin' Down the Lane Great White Way Orchestra
Beside a Babbling Brook Great White Way Orchestra
Two fox trots. One of them smooth and quiet in style, the other one with Bob-White calls and a whistling chorus. Both are in wholesome, country boy manner. They are played with fine finish.
No. 19058 10-inch List Price 75c

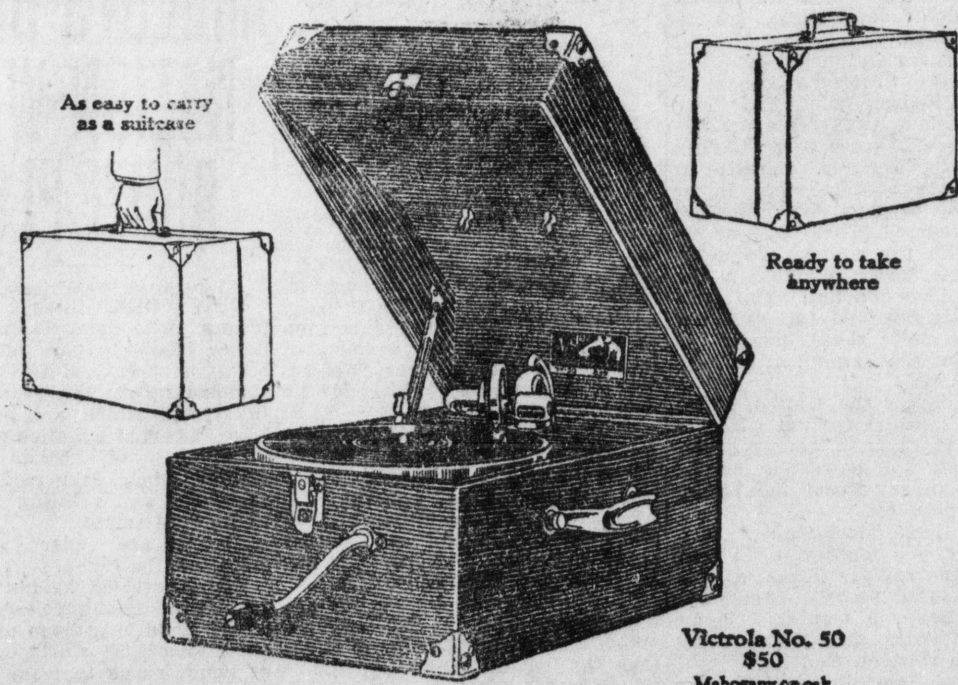

Barney Google I Love Me Georgie Price Billy Murray
Barney Google is the cartoon hero, whose adventures Georgie Price retails in a good, loud singing voice, with spoken bits. Billy Murray's hero is a cake-eating Narcissus who likes himself. This number is a great bit of characterization.
No. 19066 10-inch List Price 75c

Yes! We Have No Bananas Great White Way Orchestra
Morning Will Come Zez Confrey and His Orchestra
"Yes! We Have No Bananas" has a vocal refrain by Billy Murray and interesting orchestral effects at the beginning and end. "Morning Will Come" has no voices but plenty of orchestra.
No. 19068 10-inch List Price 75c

You've Got to See Mamma Ev'ry Night Tennessee Ten
Nuthin' But Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra
First record by the Tennessee Ten, and a fine dance from the funniest of songs. On the other side, a superbly finished Paul Whiteman fox trot with the Whiteman beauty of orchestration and the Whiteman technique greatly in evidence. No. 19073 10-inch List Price 75c

ESPEE MAY PURCHASE TEXAS RAILROAD LINE
SAN ANGELO, Tex., June 7.—It is authoritatively stated that W. R. Scott, president of the Southern Pacific lines in Texas and Louisiana, was so favorably impressed with the physical condition and traffic importance of that part of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railroad between Alpine, Tex., and Sweetwater, Tex., as a result of his recent trip of inspection over the line, that he has recommended its purchase by the Southern Pacific.

The road connects with the transcontinental line of the Southern Pacific at Alpine and with the Texas and Pacific at Sweetwater. The distance between the two points is 304 miles. If this part of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient should pass into the hands of the Southern Pacific, the remainder of the former line extending from Sweetwater to Wichita, Kan., would be placed in much better traffic position than at present, it is pointed out.

It would receive much traffic for Oklahoma and Kansas from the Southern Pacific, and in turn would serve as a valuable feeder for the latter.

DEATH FOR CANNIBALS
PARIS, June 7.—Cannibalism in western and central Africa is punishable by death under a decree just promulgated by the French government. Cases formerly were dealt with according to local native customs. Sentences frequently were mild.

NEWS BRIEFS

Former residents of Orange county, Indiana, will hold an all-day picnic at the Orange county park, June 23, according to announcements sent out by Miss Louise Kistler, 625 South Lemon street, Anaheim, secretary of the Orange county, Indiana, society. Basket lunches will be a feature.

Graduating seniors of the high school were today examining their grades for the ending school year, following their distribution yesterday from the office of the registrar, Miss Lula B. Finley. In a few cases where the pupil had work to make up, the grades were retained to be given out when the work is completed. Undergraduates will receive their grades tomorrow, a new departure at the school, where grades have never before been given out until some time after the end of the school year. Miss Finley today gave assurance that parents might expect the complete report of their children's standing at school with their return home tomorrow afternoon.

Former residents of two states—Maine and New Hampshire—are making final plans to attend picnics to be held Saturday at Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles.

The Costa Mesa farm center is scheduled to hold a meeting tomorrow night.

W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, will conduct a septic tank demonstration at the ranch of N. E. Allen, Placentia street and Ceritos avenue tomorrow.

Members of the executive committee of the dairy department of the Orange county farm bureau will hold a meeting and barbecue at Orange county park tonight.

A meeting of the West Orange farm center will be held tonight.

Final plans for the citrus institute to be held at Fullerton next week were made today at a meeting of the executive committee of the citrus department of the Orange county farm bureau.

Term reports of principals of Santa Ana schools were being received at the office of J. A. Cranston, city school superintendent, today and made part of the report of Santa Ana school work to be filed with the state superintendent of schools.

George M. Kryhl has returned from a week's trip to Yosemite, where he attended a convention of optometrists of the state.

J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, today was attending a convention of the League of the Southwest at Santa Barbara. More than 4,000 invitations were sent out in connection with the three-day session of the league.

Motion pictures, depicting organized methods of agriculture, as practiced by the county farm bureau of the state, will be shown in Orange county July 2 to 14. Ten showings are being scheduled, to take in the various farm center districts of the county. One showing will be held at the Santa Ana high school auditorium, according to the schedule. The public will be invited free of charge as the educational films were planned as farm bureau publicity.

Yankee Shortstop Hopes to Play Two More Years, Retire

NEW YORK, June 7.—How much longer will Everett Scott, who still is going after playing more than 1000 consecutive games, continue to play major league ball?

Last year Scott appeared to be slowing up badly. His play on the Polo Grounds was ordinary all season and in the world series he dropped away below the high standard that usually characterizes his work.

This year Scott appears in much better condition than last season and is playing a much improved game. Incidentally the new Yankee field, which will be a trifle slower for a time, will help his play.

"I never intend to play minor league ball," says Scott. "If I am to stick two more years in the majors I will be content to retire."

NEW YORK GLOBE IS REPORTED SOLD
NEW YORK, June 7.—The Globe and Commercial Advertiser has been sold, according to reports that were not denied by officers of the evening paper. The transaction, if it has taken place, was veiled in secrecy. No confirmation was forthcoming. Jas. Rogers, secretary and publisher of the Globe, would not discuss the report. A. D. Lasker, chairman of the shipping board, was mentioned in one report as the purchaser. At his apartment at the Catham, no verification could be obtained. Mr. Lasker, it was said, is out of town.

HOLDS BANKING BUSINESS ITEM IS CONFIDENCE

Declaring in an address before the Kiwanis club yesterday that the public will pay a premium for intelligent service, and that confidence is a greater business asset than money or merchandise, H. J. Banta of Los Angeles, president of the Banta company, successor to the Weststock-Nichols company, wholesaler of automobile accessories, recited a personal experience which convinced him that confidence was the big asset.

On February 28 the stock of merchandise of his company was wiped out by fire at a loss of approximately $200,000. One of his competitors, the night of the fire, told Banta to move his working force into the former's store the following morning and to proceed with his business as usual.

Shipments Not Retchecked
For two weeks Banta's employees packed and shipped out thousands of dollars worth of goods. No check was kept by the competitor as to the merchandise shipped and settlement finally was made entirely on the check kept by Banta's organization. That was evidence of the competitor's confidence in him and his organization, Banta said.

"Some men think that money, others that merchandise, and still others that organization is the greatest thing in business," said Banta, in talking on this subject. "The greatest thing in business is confidence. You cannot conduct business without confidence. Money is worthless in an institution unless there is confidence in that institution."

Friendly Competition Pleaded
"Good will in a going business is an asset worth as much as the merchandise or capital investment."

"One of the needs of business today is more of the spirit of square dealing. The time was when a merchant thought his competitors were men to be avoided. The condition has changed somewhat, for today we find men in the same line of business meeting and discussing problems that confront each."

"Many business men are guided by selfishness—they are guided in their actions by the dollar. The business man who sees only the dollar is not on the road to permanent success. In a transaction in which all parties do not benefit, the deal is not satisfactory, it is not honest. Any business based on the dollar solely is a failure. Business men should work constructively together and not destructively apart."

The speaker recounted instances of success in which the business was founded on service, courtesy and square dealing that created confidence on the part of the public.

Joe Benjamin To Meet Bobby Harper June 20

PORTLAND, Ore., June 7.—All arrangements have been made for Joe Benjamin, coast lightweight champion, to meet Bobby Harper of Seattle here on June 20, according to announcement today. Benjamin, who is with Jack Dempsey's training camp in Great Falls, Montana, will leave there Sunday night, and come to Portland for some hard training preceding the bout.

The match is one which the northwest is wanted to see for a long time, and it is expected to hold more than the usual interest in sporting circles.

LONDON, June 7.—Fifty grandchildren were present at the birthday party of a ninety-year-old woman in Blyth, Northumberland.

Alleged Well-Known Offenders Jailed to Answer Rum Charges

It was "old home" week at the county jail today, as two old offenders were once more incarcerated, pending the judgment of City Recorder W. F. Heathman, before whom they were to be arraigned today on drunkenness charges.

Dennis Osborne, happy victim of any asserted "jag", came back for the first time since November 19 of last year. He insisted, it was alleged, on trying to drive an automobile, and offered to whip a police department that would interfere. Patrolman Yoder arrested him and his companion, Robert Carson.

Gene Tammpan was another of the old guard that did a "prodigal" stunt, when he was arrested for alleged drunkenness, and lodged in the jail. He served 60 days, beginning last Armistice day.

Norman Hodge came up from Bala and Greg Galvan came down from Orange. They met at a carnival on Third street last night, and soon came to blows, according to officers.

Patrolman Wade arrested them both and charged them with disturbing the peace.

BOY IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT BY HIGH SCHOOL

(Special to The Register)
ORANGE, June 7.—By a twenty-seven majority of votes Lloyd McClure was declared president of the high school student body at the annual election. His victory was something of a surprise as Cecil Cox had strong support from a large number of students.

The officers elected were as follows:
President, Lloyd McClure, 18;
Cecil Cox, 15.

Vice-president, Elmer Nichols, 183; Clara Frick, 83.
Secretary, Clarence Higgins, 110.
Treasurer, Kellar Watson, 110.
Charles Jackson, Howard Thompson.

Song Leader, Clarence Higgins, Elaine Smith.
Pianist, Josephine Hardin.
The Girls' league officers are:
President, Clara Frick, 203; Marjorie Thompson, 120; Anita Ames, 119.
Secretary, Lois Thompson.

Tommy Gibbons Arrives at Shelby Fight Camp

SHELBY, Mont., June 7.—"I am just as confident as ever that I can take Jack Dempsey over the 'jumps,'" Tom Gibbons declared today as he sat in the sunshine on the front porch of his new home here, where he is to start training for his bout with the heavyweight champion July 4.

"If I weren't sure I'd win, the bout would be called off right now," he said as he twirled his new Bangkok hat, presented by a St. Paul admirer.

Tom was holding an informal reception for the townspeople. "I sure feel grateful to the people of Shelby for giving me this opportunity which has been denied by eastern promoters for two years," he said. "We had to come out west to get our chance."

"I am not under-estimating Jack's hitting ability, but I am very confident I can knock him out before ten rounds."

Tom, his wife and three boys arrived Wednesday night from St. Paul. The challenger will not do any heavy work before Friday.

FOR CITRUS SCALE

Rosin soap spray is especially good to use for scale on lemon and orange trees. Use one pound to about three gallons of water. A thorough spraying is almost as effective as a fumigation, if done at the proper time. Kerosene or distillate is often added, but should be used with care to prevent burning of foliage and fruit. We handle the Rosin soaps in one, three and forty pound cans.

ARRANGE BIBLE SCHOOL STAFF FOR SUMMER

With plans virtually completed for opening of the vacation Bible schools here on Monday, June 18, the teaching staff and the location of the schools was made public today by the Rev. H. C. Burgess, pastor of the Richland Avenue M. E. church, and secretary of the executive committee in charge of the vacation school program.

The schools will continue to July 30, with half-day sessions, 9 a. m. to 12 n.

Miss Clara Hutton of Los Angeles has been chosen principal. She is a graduate of Columbia university, and of late has been directing religious education at Emanuel church, Los Angeles.

The teaching staff will be as follows:
Kindergarten to be held at First Baptist and Richland Avenue Methodist Episcopal churches—Misses Mayne Havens, Beatrice Anderson, with Misses Jean Ramsey and Lorena Crowdy as assistants.

Primary — Spurgeon Memorial and Richland Avenue churches—Misses Theresa Van Ness, Alice Clark, Pauline Parker, with Misses Ruth Goodrich and Ada Burgess as assistants.

Junior — First Presbyterian church — Mrs. Cecelia Trawick, Miss Bell McDermott, Mrs. Pearl Morse, with Miss Grace Ludwig as assistant.

Intermediate — First Congregational church—Mrs. Flora Thompson and Miss Jessie Emma Files. An institute will be held at the First Baptist Church, the mornings of June 13-15. All Sunday school teachers of the city are invited to attend.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every Druggist in this country is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of Allenbur's, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

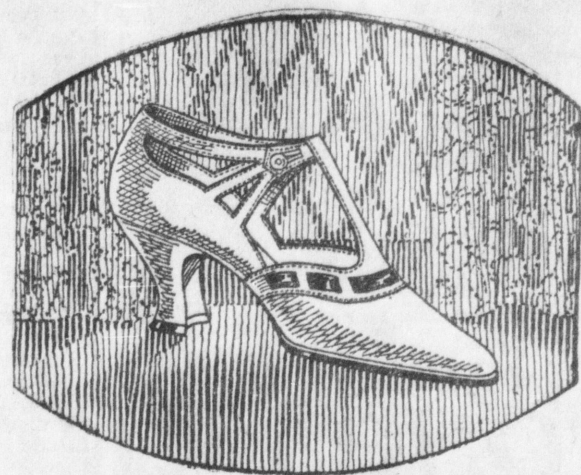

Allenbur has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiful and where the patient was helpless. Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of Allenbur, who for many years suffered the tortures of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenbur decidedly conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance. QUESTIONS ANSWERS

WHY CHIROPRACTIC?

- BECAUSE it is conceded to be the most effective health system known today.
- BECAUSE over fifty Insurance Companies are now approving it.
- BECAUSE John D. Rockefeller, Prince of Spain, Billy Sunday, Chas. M. Schwab, Clara Barton, Bessie Love, Jack Dempsey, twenty-four states and 153,000 majority of California voters have gone on record for it.
- BECAUSE Kelly himself regained his health through it years ago, after exhausting the resources of the other health systems.
- BECAUSE Health Talks now running in the National magazines indicate its scope and superiority.
- BECAUSE it is the largest drugless health system and is founded on facts.
- BECAUSE it removes the cause of disease instead of treating the effects.
- BECAUSE Health is your birthright. It goes where the spine is in order. Adjusting will right that condition of yours.
- BECAUSE Time is the most valuable thing a man can spend. Time spent in regaining health pays the biggest dividends of all.

WHY KELLY?

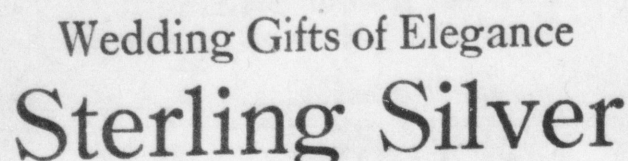

- BECAUSE of his gentle adjustments.
- BECAUSE he is both reliable and responsible.
- BECAUSE he is established and has been for years.
- BECAUSE he is permanently established in Santa Ana.
- BECAUSE he believes in higher educational and professional standards.
- BECAUSE his Chiropractic standards are even higher than those required by the National Board of Chiropractic Examiners and the new Calif. Chiropractic Law.
- BECAUSE he makes sure of correct analysis of all cases before adjusting them.
- BECAUSE he has constantly endeavored to provide the maximum in location, service, courtesy, comfort and results, that you might receive the most in health for the least trouble and expense.
- BECAUSE Kelly provides every modern convenience for you in his suite of offices, including comfortable tables, gentle scientific adjustments, prompt efficient service, individual rooms for women, lady assistant, and at rates that are reasonable.

Los Alisos Is Scene Of Smart Gathering Of Bridge Players

Los Alisos, the beautiful country home of the Angus Crookshanks, offered its most charming aspect yesterday afternoon to a large group of friends of the chateau. Mrs. Crookshank who had bidden her guests to a garden party and an afternoon of bridge.

While the California sun was beaming, its rays lacked their usual warmth so Mrs. Crookshank arranged her card tables—twenty-one in number—within the walls of the spacious home where playing was a trifle pleasanter than would have been the case outside.

Famous for their wealth of bloom, the Crookshank garden yielded of their treasures to beautify the home, and the pretty frocks worn by the guests, added to the color of the effect.

Aiding the hostess in her pleasant duties were Mrs. Clarence Crookshank, Miss Lida Crookshank and Miss Shirley White. At the conclusion of the series of bridge games, Mrs. Crookshank invited her guests to stroll through the gardens and later they returned to the card tables under the graceful sycamores which give the home its name.

Served in two courses, the tea menu offered its appetizing charm at tables gay with quaint little pots of posies, no two alike. These were in each case awarded the holder of low score at that particular table. Lavender, yellow and all the dainty pastel tints shown in the posies were repeated in water lily ices and French pastries served after the salad course.

The two daughters of the home, the Misses Constance and Josephine Crookshank with their cousin Eleanor, young daughter of the Clarence Crookshanks, aided by a bevy of gay young school friends, like flowers themselves in their gay organdy frocks, served the refreshments.

In addition to the floral gifts made holders of low score, an attractive gold enameled flower basket filled with choice blossoms was awarded Mrs. W. E. Winslow, holding high score. A beautiful vase was given Miss Katherine Edwards, scoring second high and a charming basket of flowers was presented Mrs. T. A. Winbigger, holding low score.

S. A. Women's Club

Mrs. Rose Mordoff was charming hostess Tuesday afternoon to members of the Santa Ana Women's club who were entertained at the home of Mrs. Mary Alexander, 1112 French street. The big living room was made particularly inviting by a blazing fire on the hearth which was so comfortable that it took the wealth of gladioli and Golden West dahlias used throughout the rooms to make the guests realize that it was truly June.

Mrs. Jack Taylor presided over the business session during which arrangements were made for a steak bake to be held at Orange county park on June 28. Mrs. Walter Myers and Mrs. Walter L. Moore were asked to take charge of the affair, each being an expert at arranging such outings.

The club's appreciation was voiced to Mrs. Mary Mattern for the flowers she sent to Mrs. Monny. Mrs. C. F. Crose and Mrs. C. T. Wells were appointed as a committee to select a gift for the outgoing president, Dr. Evalene Peo who at present is enjoying an eastern trip.

The Peace Conference at Washington was the theme of the afternoon program and Mrs. G. B. Lammie read a very interesting article by Theodore Roosevelt Jr., on "What Navy Reduction Means to You" in which the subject was elaborated. This gave rise to a spirited and interesting discussion.

With Mrs. George Lester at the piano and leading in the singing, patriotic airs were sung, including "America" and "The Star-Spangled Banner" after which Mrs. F. A. Marks led in a parliamentary drill and the club members dispersed to meet again Tuesday afternoon, June 19, with Mrs. C. P. Kryhl, 215 East Tenth street.

Merry School-marms Are Surprised By Birthday Party

With the drawing to an end of the school year, many different social events are of weekly occurrence among members of teaching staffs throughout the city. One of the most pleasant of these was a cleverly arranged "birthday party" with which Miss Sadie McCaughy entertained her sister teachers of Franklin school at her home, 305 South Birch street.

Plans numbers by Miss Edna Copeland were an enjoyable feature of the affair. At a late hour, delicious refreshments offered the surprise event of the evening when guests, entering the dining-room found the table graced by a beautiful big birthday cake illuminated with tiny red candles.

It was explained that all those present with the exception of the hostess and Miss Lottie Sweet, were to celebrate a birthday during the summer, so the cake was to honor them jointly. The surprise was completed by the presentation to each of a pretty birthday card and a dainty georgette sport handkerchief, the gifts of Miss McCaughy and Miss Sweet.

Those enjoying the happy moments were the hostess, her sister Miss Zella McCaughy, and the Misses Lottie Sweet, Edna Copeland, Gale Shelton, Marguerite Williams, Hazel McFarland and Natalie Robinson.

S. B. A.

A recent happy event in S. B. A. circles was a birthday surprise on William J. Morrison who has been financier of Santa Ana Council Security Benefit association No. 1694 for the past twelve years.

Mr. Morrison's birthday occurring on June 4, he was that evening, surprised by his friends quietly gathering at his home and ringing the bell. When he went to the door, he was quite overwhelmed with the warmth of their greetings.

Merry games enlivened the evening and at a late hour, a delectable supper was enjoyed. The honoree was presented with many attractive gifts, but none more pleasing than the fine fountain pen, suitably engraved, which the council gave as a mark of appreciation of the work of their financier.

The usual business session of the Council was held last night at M. W. A. hall with initiations followed by many pleasant features. Plans were completed for the big open social evening at M. W. A. hall Wednesday night, June 13 when dancing will be varied by a short and entertaining program. As a special feature on that night, the entertaining committee will present the new S. B. A. orchestra of three pieces, made up from the council members and which will furnish dance music in the future.

June 20 will also offer a big night when the membership campaign will end and the large class resulting from the drive will be initiated. All councils in Southern California have been invited and a large attendance as well as something new and novel in the way of entertainment. On June 27 will come the regular dancing party when another large crowd of members and friends is expected to dance to the music of the new orchestra.

Ebell Tea Room

So successful has been the tea room sponsored by the Santa Ana Ebell society that it will be maintained during the summer, it was today announced. Assistance of section leaders and the club membership generally has been so freely given that the venture has scored a financial success almost from its beginning.

It will be managed this summer by a permanent committee directed by Miss Mona Card and it is the hope of the ways and means committee that all members of the club drop in at the pretty orange and black room and ascertain for themselves just how pleasant are the home-cooked meals provided.

Wedding Anniversary Happily Celebrated In Orange Home

The silver wedding which marks the twenty-fifth year of wedded life was an event celebrated most happily in the A. A. Smith home, 270 South Olive street, Orange, early in the week.

The affair was arranged as a complete surprise to the bride of twenty-five years ago who all unsuspecting, returned from the library to find her home invaded by loving friends offering their congratulations.

Miss Helen Smith, daughter of the home, just returned from her studies at the University of California, Southern Branch, was one of the ring leaders in the merry plot and arranged for her mother's absence that the friends might gather with their floral offerings and deck the house as for a bride. The sole shadow on the happy evening was the fact that Mr. Smith, editor of the Ventura News, was unable to be present to celebrate his own wedding anniversary and had to make a telegram of greetings, suffice.

The evening was devoted to games and music and many were the songs of a quarter century ago which were revived and sung with animation. Piano and ukelele numbers added their variety to the musical program. Late in the evening ice cream was served with delicious home-made cake.

Mrs. Smith, like her husband, is interested in newspaper work and at present is social editor of one of the Anaheim papers.

Greeting her at her anniversary party were friends from nearby communities, Santa Ana being represented by Messrs. and Mesdames Walker, D. Lewis, A. C. Eaton, D. Barrows, Harry Blackburn and son Howard; from Anaheim were Mrs. Alberta Andrews, Mrs. Harriet Boyd and Sam Whittaker; from Orange, Miss Dorothy Perkins, and the young people of the home, Miss Helen Smith and Ernest Smith.

C. of M. and P.-T. A.

The final district board meeting for the year will be held by the Fourth district. Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher association at Birch park, Saturday, June 9, beginning at 10 a. m.

At noon a pot-luck luncheon will be served, each to bring her own coffee in thermos bottles, a new departure as heretofore, coffee has been furnished. In the afternoon reports will be offered by officers and department chairmen while delegates to the recent state convention at Stockton will also give accounts of that event.

All retiring and incoming presidents of the P.-T. A. of the district (which comprises the whole of Orange county) are expected to be present and one of the most valuable parts of the program is expected to follow a request for suggestions that might aid the incoming presidents.

Legion Auxiliary

Tonight at the armory, members of the American Legion auxiliary will gather for their sole stated meeting of June, with many matters of importance to be discussed. In view of the press of business arising from the dispersing of the second monthly meeting, no program has been arranged and the entire time will be given over to business discussions under the direction of the president, Mrs. Gertrude Whitney.

Large Guest Group Witnesses Pretty Home Nuptials

One of the month's many beautiful weddings was that of Miss Emma Claypool, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Claypool of Orange and Mr. Norval E. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Moore of West Ninth street, Santa Ana, which was an event of last Saturday at the home of the bride.

Nearly seventy guests assembled at the pleasant Claypool home for the ceremony, an 8 o'clock one preceded by a briefly beautiful song recited by Mrs. Harry Neffer of San Bernardino with Miss Gladys Gorton at the piano.

To the softly modulated strains of Cadman's "At Dawning," the young couple entered the living room and stood beneath a wedding bell of Cecil Brunner buds as they took their vows before the Rev. S. Sampson of Huntington Park assisted by the bride's uncle, the Rev. James Claypool of Villa Park. Miss Claypool was very lovely in her bridal gown of white satin, her long veil falling from a chapel of orange blossoms and her arms filled with brides roses arranged in shower effect.

Attending her was Miss Annette Lewis in a girlish frock of pink crepe de chine and carrying pink sweet peas. Tiny Virginia Claypool, an adorable infant of two, frocked in crisp orchid organdy, scattered rose petals in the path of the bride.

Mr. Moore was attended by Mr. Rock Bradshaw of Stanford University as best man. Following the ceremony a reception was staged and delectable refreshments were served in the flower decked dining room. Later the happy couple departed for a honeymoon to be spent at Catalina, the bride very smart in canton crepe of gray with hat, shoes and gloves to harmonize. Upon their return they will be at home on their ranch southwest of this city.

Birthday Celebration Is Happy Surprise At Cole Home

A most pleasant evening was enjoyed Tuesday when a group of happy folk gathered at the residence of Mr. C. S. Cole on Richey street to offer him a complete surprise in celebration of his birthday.

Mrs. Cole, aware of the plans, had the pretty home artistically decorated with great red dahlias and ferns. Amusement was offered in cards and at the evening's close, refreshments of pink ice cream and maple nut cake were enjoyed by the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Cole and a guest group composed of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heits, Mr. and Mrs. Vinton Motry, Mrs. Ila Kennedy, Messrs. Millard Giddison, H. H. Huyler, Eugene Huyler, Masters Carl and Ralph Kennedy, Charles and Leo Cole and Little Miss Mildred Cole.

Plan Summer Tour

With the completion of the year of school, Miss Vivian McFarren of the staff at Santa Fe school, with her sister Miss Gail McFarren will leave for Pasadena to rejoin their parents Mr. and Mrs. Fenner McFarren, formerly of 202 Orange avenue.

It is the intention of the little family group to leave very soon for an extended summer's motor trip going first to San Francisco, thence to Portland, Seattle and finally to Dillon, Montana where they will visit a daughter and sister, Mrs. J. B. Cluley.

Motoring through the Yellowstone they will then go to Pocatello, Idaho where another member of the interesting family of daughters, Mrs. George B. Crawford, resides. Swinging around for a leisurely homeward trip the motorists will visit Salt Lake City and come home by way of the Grand Canyon planning to reach this section in time for the opening of the schools.

Parent-Teachers

Miss Esther Jean Davis's class of little people at Roosevelt school had a happy afternoon Tuesday when they were entertained at a party held at the school grounds as a reward for being represented by the largest number of paid up members in the P.-T. A.

Merry games amused the children, twenty-eight in all, and ice cream and wafers proved most refreshing to them when served at the close of the happy afternoon.

GOLFERS WILL MEET AT INN ON JUNE 11

The first general meeting of the new Santa Ana Country club will be held at St. Ann's Inn the evening of June 11, with a dinner at 6:30 o'clock preceding, C. G. Twist, president, announced today.

It is anticipated that 100 members will be present. Friends of members will be welcome to the dinner and meeting.

Twist announced that dinner reservations should be made with him.

According to Twist, reports will be made on the progress of reorganization plans and the procuring of members. It is asserted that the membership list is growing satisfactorily and predictions are made that the limit of 400 will have been reached by the time the new club is ready to transfer operations from the present golf course to the new grounds at Santa Ana heights.

An architect is now developing the ground plans. It is expected that actual work in the laying out and developing of the new course will be under way within the next week or ten days.

TOMORROW TO SEE SCHOOLS ALL CLOSED

Schools of Orange county will close tomorrow, R. P. Mitchell, county school superintendent, said today. Virtually half of the county schools closed last Friday, and the remainder will close tomorrow, he said. All will open for the fall September 10, according to the county superintendent.

City schools of Santa Ana will open September 11, according to announcement of the board of education here.

"County schools will open September 10," Mitchell declared. "Though a number of schools closed early, the county board urged that all schools open on the announced date."

"We decided that Santa Ana city schools will open the following day, Tuesday, in order to observe the Admission day holiday, which occurs on Sunday, and therefore will make Monday a legal holiday."

"The county board, however, decided to omit this additional holiday and to get down to the business of the new school term on the scheduled Monday."

AMBASSADOR OWN YOUR OWN APARTMENTS

Long Beach today has five beautiful "Own-Your-Own" apartment buildings, completed or nearly completed, and no less than ten new buildings of the same kind being financed. The idea is practical and is proving to be a remarkable success, both to the close-in home seeker and to the investor.

Each individual owner of an apartment also owns an undivided interest in the entire building. A board of governors elected from the owners have charge of all business details pertaining to the maintenance and operation of the building. The business manager is the only member who draws a salary, this being only sufficient to cover his time and expenses. No charge is made to owners for renting or reselling their apartments. This fee is covered by the business manager's salary.

These apartments have proven very successful investments, as the net income, it is claimed, will average better than fifteen per cent and all details as to taxes, insurance, rental, etc., are taken care of for the owner by the building manager.

The most recent announcement of the "Own-Your-Own" is the Ambassador, which, judging from the original plans, will be a magnificent structure. The Ambassador is being sold through the Devotion Investment company, 125 East First street, Long Beach, California, and are apparently everything the buying public demands, for they are being purchased by the most exacting buyers.

"The Ambassador will be one of the most completely equipped apartment buildings in the west," Mr. Carlin further states; "where minor mistakes were made in some of the original apartment buildings, we have experience to profit by."

Average depth of the Indian Ocean is 12,880 feet and its greatest depth is 22,968 feet.

Average speed of the earth in its motion around the sun is 18.5 miles a second.

Quebec, province of Canada, supplies about 80 per cent of the world's output of asbestos.

NEW RECORD IN GRADUATES OF GRADES SET

A record of 785 diplomas were issued to eighth grade graduates of Orange county schools this term, R. P. Mitchell, county school superintendent, declared today. The number of graduates was approximately 200 more than last year, he said. No change was made in the grading of examinations of graduates from the elementary schools from the system used last year, according to Mitchell.

"This year has established a new record for county schools," Mitchell said. "Graduates from the elementary schools numbered 785. Last year about 600 were graduated."

"The usual system of grading the examination papers was used. A general average of 75 per cent was demanded of each pupil, with an average of 60 per cent in four major studies, arithmetic, history, geography and reading."

Among matters of interest arising at Tuesday's session of the Daughters of Veterans was the invitation extended by Eva M. Gage to join the Fullerton Tent in a picnic dinner at her home in Costa Mesa, Friday, June 15.

All tent members and their families are invited and each guest will add one prepared dish to the menu although coffee and bread

ANNEXATION IN CITY RACE FOR 50,000 SEEN BY SOLON

"Water, Newport Bay and 100,000 Santa Anans," Dr. Ball's Slogan

BOND ISSUE PROPOSED

Santa Ana South to the Sea Logical Growth Declares Assemblyman

BY DR. C. D. BALL, Assemblyman

I move to amend the slogan "50,000 Santa Anans" to "Water, Newport Bay and 100,000 Santa Anans."

Without water Santa Ana will never reach the fifty thousand mark, with it and with proper annexation she may easily double that figure.

Water and success or no water and failure, take your choice. Santa Anans, you have reached the cross roads. Every other section of California is keenly alive to the situation while you are asleep at the switch.

Look at your neighbors and take heed. San Diego has already not only developed all of her available water, but has invaded Mexico for more. Imperial is engaged in a mighty effort to bring in the Colorado. All through the Joaquin and Sacramento Valleys the fight is on for water and power, for the two are inseparable. The Hetch-Hetchy enterprise is still being vigorously pushed for San Francisco.

Ambitious Los Angeles. Some of you are familiar with the Lyon Bill introduced in the recent legislature to allow Los Angeles to grasp by eminent domain all of the water rights in our neighborhood mountains not already covered. Now Los Angeles is not attempting to get the water because she is thirsty, but because she is ambitious, she needs it for power to develop her many enterprises. Fortunately for us the Lyon Bill was tabled in the Senate.

The water level in Santa Ana is gradually getting lower and lower (it is five or six feet lower than it was a year ago) and more expensive pumps are being added to increase the supply. The cost of producing the water is necessarily increasing.

Where gravity water can be obtained there is no excuse for

Civic Planning Scheme Articles Show Wide Scope

Assemblyman C. D. Ball and H. Newton Thornton, architect, have contributed articles to this week's discussion of the Santa Ana of the future.

Dr. Ball has emphasized the necessity of planning big things. He moves to amend the slogan of "50,000 Santa Anans" to "Water, Newport Harbor and 100,000 Santa Anans."

Architect Thornton, viewing the city from a professional and artistic standpoint that sees the utilitarian features and the beauty of a city as a combined whole, endorses the civic planning commission proposed by J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

"I believe a civic planning commission should be organized immediately," Thornton said. "It is never too early to begin planning a big city. Santa Ana will be a big city. It should be well planned."

Five Acre Apricot Ranch Changes Hands Residence In Trade

According to Hardy and Hardy, real estate brokers, Ray L. Noble has sold to Earl E. Smith, this city, a five-acre apricot orchard at Nuevo. Residence property at 813 North Flower was involved in the deal, Noble now being the owner.

The same firm reports the sale by A. C. Lamb to Blanche Hull of the residence property at 709 West Walnut. The purchaser will take possession in thirty days.

INVESTMENT IN ORANGE GROVE OF $100,000

Investing approximately $110,000 in a twenty-acre Valencia orange grove on Sunlight avenue, east of Anaheim, William Gregg, 1922 North Broadway, this city, today was moving his family to the new ranch home.

The property was purchased from Edgar J. Hartung through the agency of Howard Williams, realtor at Orange. In point of sales price the transaction is one of the largest reported here in recent months. The location of the tract is at the first street east of Placentia

CITY PLANNING COMMISSION ENDORSED

Civic Organization Fundamental to Growth, Writes Architect

BY H. NEWTON THORNTON, Member American Institute of Architects.

Santa Ana of today has exhausted its dream of yesterday and whilst the results are very gratifying it must begin to throw off its swaddling clothes. It is destined to merge into a large industrial metropolis adjacent to the city of Los Angeles, which, for many reasons is to be the New York of the Pacific coast.

In a larger measure than we realize the future of Santa Ana will be determined by the vision and ability of our local community leaders. The vision of a well-planned city alone is one of the best advertising values for any community. What would life or property in any city be worth without police and fire protection, public schools, parks, street paving and lighting, water and sewage systems and other public necessities? There can be no other reason for articles of this nature, except that it may inspire and help in a practical way our municipal leaders to better care for the certain increase in population, shall I say to 50,000? yes, but why limit it?

Most cities have not been built, they have grown without a plan. A railroad station, a cross roads, or a center of agricultural industry has determined the first location of all cities, and from this point usually has proceeded in haphazard fashion. It is always difficult for the pioneer to visualize the city of the future completely. In a measure we are still pioneers and it is hard to realize that the hamlet of today is to be the city of tomorrow.

So it is with Santa Ana, enthused by the influx of high grade citizenship, and the material wealth of our communities gathered from the virgin soil we are all dreaming of our environments when the population has increased to the 50,000 mark. Well might we dream, for even dreams come true. Truly no city was ever better situated in the midst of prolific production and congenial climate.

Early Mistakes. It is time now to consider the experiences of other cities less fortunate, many of which have found it impossible to correct the mistakes in their early growth, by reason of the absence of a plan. We must prepare now for the inevitable future growth in population and build a city that will be useful, efficient and livable when that step in our population is reached. It must be a city where men can work with comfort and convenience and continue to make their homes amid healthy and wholesome surroundings. Let us build up an environment with the wonderful assets we have to maintain our future citizenship through an organization formed for the express purpose—a city planning commission.

A start could be made at once by appointing a commission composed of city authorities and representative men who are vitally interested in civic affairs, whose duty would be to outline a program of activity, receive suggestions for regulations and whose powers should reach so far as the employment of an expert on city planning. A commission so formed would create enthusiasm for a better and greater Santa Ana and would give our citizens more confidence in the town.

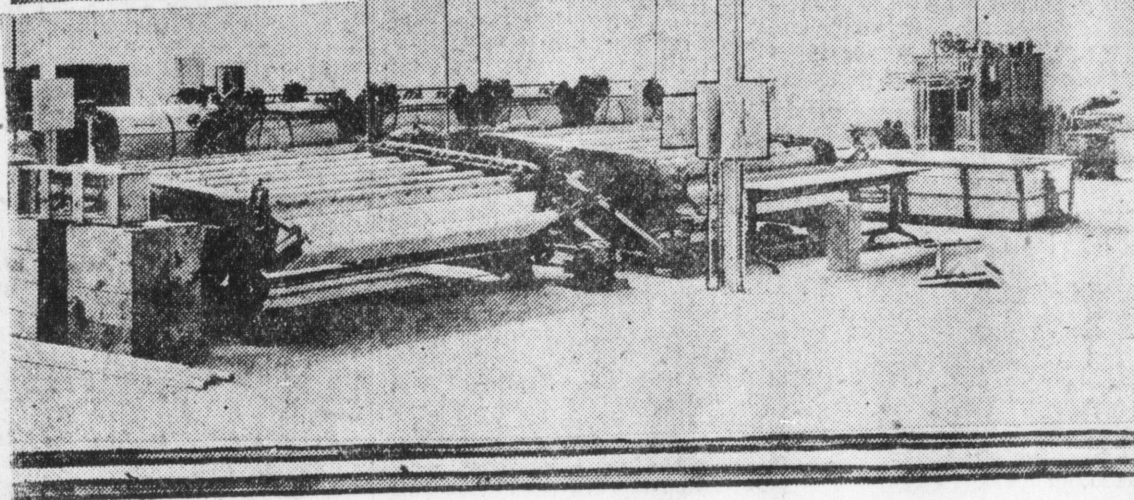

The first step under its direction would be the preparation of an up-to-date city plan that a zoning ordinance could be drawn up dividing the city into districts with the object of giving each class of building the best location suited for its purpose. We are surely ready to make this step of zoning our city when we see apartment houses of every kind and nature springing up in every section of the city, laundries close to residential properties, and other inharmonious arrangements of our buildings.

Zoning Necessary. Zoning alone would prevent the location of public garages, manufacturing plants, undertakers, etc., in purely residential sections. And again it would have control over the heights of our buildings and in a measure pass upon the aesthetic thrive without damage to adjoining. It would set aside certain areas for every conceivable use in our future development and prevent infringement or trespass of one use upon another. It would provide for all sorts of business where it can drive without damage to adjoining property or to the lives of children at school or play. In a word, zoning is the latest expression of the desire to make a city of the future more livable and is absolutely necessary before we as a city can assimilate an increase of 25,000 population.

A city planning commission besides having control over the construction of buildings, preparation of zoning regulations, would advise in the treatment of grounds, planting of trees on public thoroughfares and counsel the landscape gardening to city homes and public parks. It would have much to do with the cleaning of our streets which alone is a great civic asset. Clean streets help in giving the

MODERN NEW PLANT OF THE SANTA ANA LAUNDRY COMPANY TO BEGIN OPERATIONS

Opening of the Santa Ana laundry company's new plant next week will give this city one of the most modern establishments of its kind in Orange county. Upper view shows the exterior of the new building. Lower view, a section of the main operating room, with two flat working ironing machines with the latest type floating rollers in the foreground. J. Lee Cathcart, president of the Southern California Service company, of which the Santa Ana Laundry company is a branch, is shown in inset.

WORK TO BEGIN ON TELEPHONE BUILDING

With the contract awarded by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company to J. A. Mathis, Los Angeles, contractor, Earl S. Morrow, local manager, today announced that construction work would start Monday on the company's three-story and basement building to be erected on the northeast corner of Fifth and Bush streets.

Men from the office of City Engineer W. G. Knox today were engaged in surveying the ground for the new structure. H. H. Ryder, who is to be superintendent of construction, was here yesterday and arranged for the survey and also took out the necessary building permit, which indicates that the contract was let for $75,000.

At the same time Morrow stated that beginning of the construction program means the expenditure of a total of more than $350,000 for expansion of the company's system in this city. "Central office equipment to care for the growth of the city and increase in population in this community, costing around $200,000, will be installed in the building," said Morrow. "Before the new building is opened, much underground cable will be laid. At least $14,000 will be spent in this work. At least $50,000 will be spent in the installation of new cable leading from all parts of the city to the new center."

"The Santa Ana program is a fair example of the work being done by the company in all parts of Orange county to cope with the great influx of population. Fullerton, Garden Grove, Newport Beach, Orange and Placentia are all to benefit from improvements this year."

"Every consideration has been given to the design of the local structure to afford the best possible light and air for the comfort of patrons and employees of the company. Modern conveniences, such as are included in all structures of the kind erected by the company, will make the building a thing of pride both to the company and to the city."

COUNTY OFFICE HANDLES BIG BUSINESS

A gain of thirty-five or forty per cent in the amount of business handled by the county recorder's office was shown today by figures presented by Miss Justine Whitney, county recorder.

This gain is proven by a comparison of receipts and number of documents recorded for the month of May, 1923, and for the month of May, 1922. The fees for May of this year totaled $4278, and for May of last year $3071.50. The number of instruments recorded this May was 3242 and for May a year ago 2396. The work for the month of May

MODEL LAUNDRY BUILDING IS READY FOR BUSINESS

New Plant of Santa Ana Laundry Company to Be Opened Next Week

DOUBLES CAPACITY

Latest Type Machinery, Electrically Driven, Features Installation

A modern steam laundry, equipped with over $40,000 worth of new machinery, and in a $50,000 building, will be ready to attend to the laundry business of Santa Ana and surrounding communities next week, according to J. Lee Cathcart, president of the Southern California Service company.

The Southern California Service company controls a chain of laundries in this section of the state, of which the Santa Ana laundry is a link.

The company has just completed erection of a new building at East Fourth street and Santa Fe avenue here, which will be ready for operation next week. Cathcart said. The Santa Ana laundry at present is operating in a building on Broadway between Fourth and Fifth streets.

Double Capacity

The new laundry establishment on East Fourth street has a capacity double that of the building now in use. Cathcart said that the Santa Ana company at present was handling 50,000 pieces of laundry each week.

The new building is located in a lot 120x365 feet. The main operating room of the laundry measures over 100 feet square. Special operation rooms and the garage at the rear each are over 45 feet square.

Large show windows in the front of the building allow passers-by to look in and survey all operations. The office of the company is planned for location on a mezzanine floor in the fore part of the building.

Windows of the office mezzanine floor overlook the main floor operations from the sorting conveyor, and the rough-dry rack, past a battery of electrically operated pressing tables to a set of ironing tables, with newly designed floating rollers, and a solid row of eighteen washing machines.

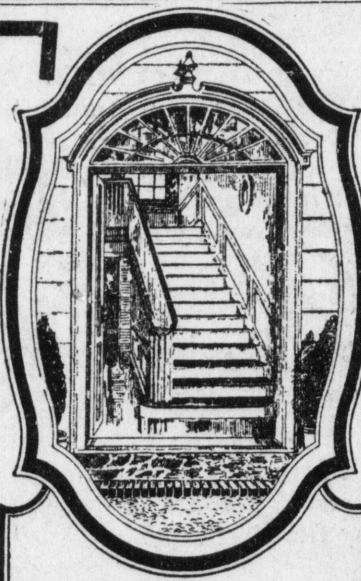

Well Lighted

Generous skylights and other features of modern plant design serve to make the building well lighted and ventilated. Obstructing pillars are eliminated. Steel beams and supporting columns carry the roof and leave the floor clear.

Cathcart said that over 40,000 gallons of water, from the company's own well on the premises, would pass through the machinery of the laundry each day of operation.

He has planned, he said, a special formal opening of the laundry for the near future, when Santa Ana women will be invited to witness the operation of the establishment.

The full staff of the present laundry on Broadway, numbering 75 employees, will be transferred to the new plant. Additions to the staff will be added as necessity demands, Cathcart said.

The present headquarters of the Southern California Service company now is located at Pomona. Despite the fact that the new Santa Ana plant will be one of the best and most modern of the kind in the company chain, Cathcart said the headquarters office would not be moved here yet.

"We are continually adding to the extent of territory covered by the company," Cathcart said. "We endeavor to keep our headquarters at the center of distribution. Pomona at present occupies that center."

visitor a good first impression of the city, and we can only grow by impressing these desirable qualities upon strangers in our midst.

Soap and Brush.
City streets should be flushed regularly and one city of importance in the middle made considerable capital out of the fact that their streets were even scrubbed with brush and soap. Street is another valuable asset and Santa Ana may well be proud of its accomplishments in this direction, but much remains to be done yet, which should be planned and designed under the watchful eye of a city planning commission. Street lighting has even become such a necessity of modern city life that its application in some cities has developed to a high degree.

We are justly proud of our trees in Santa Ana and we should continue to see through a planning commission that trees of a proper kind are planted on our new streets so that new districts will grow up in harmony with the present built up sections, and it is true of their care after planting. When a construction company or light company prune or cut limbs from trees it is not likely that the work will be executed with an eye to beauty. We must prize our trees and endeavor to preserve one of the greatest and finest of civic assets.

Public parks are one thing that are greatly lacking in our city, and it is unfortunate that the citizens have neglected to provide for this necessity, which is only another evidence of the vital need for a city planning commission.

The need of public comfort stations has long been generally recognized but little action taken. The provision of public comfort stations is an absolute necessity if we are to grow rapidly and the location should be central and adequate and should be in the hands of a city planning commission.

Port Facilities.
Santa Ana's port facilities are of paramount importance. We must immediately prepare to take advantage of our location upon navigable water and prepare for the harbor at Newport which is inevitable. A city planning commission must visualize the future railroad terminals and warehouse facilities to this harbor and also must give consideration to commercial transportation through the air, which is already an accomplished fact. Well might Mr. Metzgar visualize landing fields for airplanes and parking stations on the roofs of buildings for automobiles when we grow to 50,000 people. Long before that will they be needed even though we are growing fast.

These problems are with us now and we must see to it that they are solved fast for our happiness and that of our posterity. Always remember that the city that prepares ahead of the demand may easily reap an advantage. Coastwise shipping on the Pacific coast is in its infancy yet and travel through the air promises to have wonderful development in the very near future.

New railroads are entering our territory even already to take care of the dream of our future citizenship without regulation or foresight which may handicap the city further by switching engines and tracks across our main business thoroughfares. Railroad problems, depots, and warehouse districts should all be under the control of a city planning commission.

Building Code.
Many are the buildings that will be erected in the immediate future, and many more old timers remodelled, partly at least, which should be under adequate control and supervision. Buildings of the community have their advertising value and represent the progressiveness of our citizens. A well written building code pays large dividends to a city, providing it is enforced by sufficient inspection to see that buildings are actually built to conform to the code. When a building is once erected even though it violates all codes and sanitary conditions it is a difficult matter to get it remedied.

Looking down the stream of time in Santa Ana, when the city has a population of 50,000 or more I see a carefully planned civic center, which has been the thought and dream of a planning commission of today. The center building being a new city hall to take care of increased business, surrounded by a new federal building, post office and Chamber of Commerce. A public auditorium set in a spacious plaza. A uniform street lighting system on all main streets, throwing out a beacon light of prosperity to the world. A large harbor to take care of the ever increasing industries of the community. Public parks of some magnitude and open air swimming pools for the amusement and rest of our citizens. Children's playgrounds in every section of the city where supervised play may add to the physical development of our children.

Yes, Santa Ana will have a population of 50,000 people and by that time will enjoy all the modern conveniences of a truly modern city and will have an environment of beautiful homes and well planned business districts worthy of this Garden Wonder Land.

Co-operation is the main factor upon which all civic progress depends and we must sell our present citizenship first to the need of these things to properly take care of the future. We can all call attention to things that need doing to better enable our city to cater to an increased population, but only a few can start them. Let us commence a catalogue of desirable civic assets through a city planning commission and strive together in harmony to acquire them.

pumping. Do you realize that every gallon of water that we consume in Santa Ana is twice pumped? With gravity water once obtained even if it were conserved twenty miles away, it may be distributed with very little expense. Twice pumped water even if obtained in the immediate neighborhood may not compete with it for a moment.

Future Mohave Desert
If Los Angeles, Long Beach or any other city by right of eminent domain get possession of our water, the ground water will soon give out entirely, our dream of 50,000 will not only not be realized, but our city itself will be as worthless as the Mohave desert. This is not idle babbling, anyone who stops to consider must realize that it is true.

For expansion whither must we turn? To Newport Bay of course. The bay cities need fresh water and we need salt water. They need us and we need them. We should annex all the territory south of us, between the bay, the river and the ocean.

It is true that the proposed territory might object to annexation but I have seen nothing to indicate that the Bay people and the farmers are shortsighted. The farmers especially will be benefited for there is not over much in dry farming for small ranches. With irrigation the farming lands of the district would triple in value.

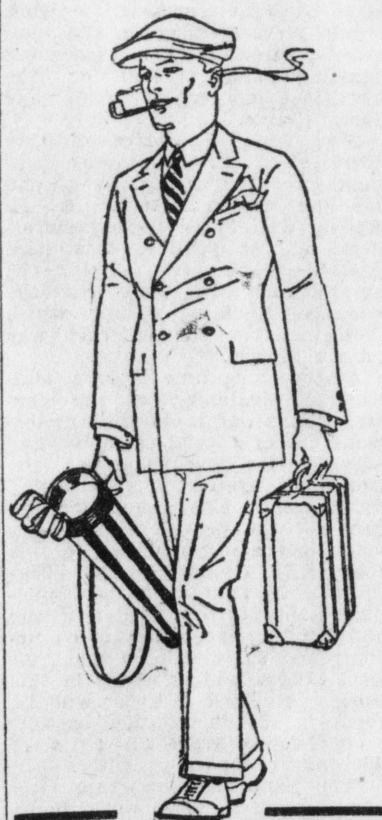

A Good Investment
We are all familiar with the story of Owens River and how the river made Los Angeles a mighty city. Twenty years ago Los Angeles bonded herself for about twenty-three million dollars to develop the Owens river water. Today that water is worth to her more than twenty-three billion dollars. Was it a good investment?

A greater Santa Ana as described above could easily bond herself for enough to develop water in the Santiago, the Trabuco or even the Santa Ana Canyon for a hundred thousand people. I have said nothing of other neighboring cities for they are not concerned with our future so we need not worry about them. If they desire to link their fortunes with us well and good. If they do not they are not vital to our success, but we need the Bay far more than Los Angeles needed San Pedro.

"Water, Newport Bay and a hundred thousand Santa Anans," please accept my amendment.

Let's Build A Fortune

A "Sky-Scraper" is just a series of bricks, laid up ONE AT A TIME. The Pyramids were built one stone at a time. They are the wonder of the ages, but somebody built them—one stone at a time. Building a "Sky-Scraper" one brick at a time seems like a slow, tiresome process, but doesn't it surprise you how quickly a brick building is finished? The main point is GETTING STARTED.

Every Fortune Dates Back To The Day When Somebody Started Saving a Part of His Wages—Systematically.

Wishing for a brick building is a waste of time. Somebody must take a brick and make a start. That's the way it is in building a fortune—someone has to lay the first brick.

We want to help you build a fortune. All you do is furnish the bricks. We furnish the cement and do the work. A brick building would not be nearly so high were it not for the cement between the bricks that holds them together. The cement we furnish in building your fortune is INTEREST. Every time you bring in a brick we spread a layer of cement on top of it. How it does GROW!

There are some people who never will own anything, because they will never start. A brick represents one dollar. That's all you need to start. The more you can bring us the faster the building will grow—but it MUST be done systematically. Every man ought to pinch something each month out of his wages. If he can't he ought to hunt a new job, because he'll go to the poor house when he gets a little older. Let's start building that fortune tomorrow. Let's do it if we have to borrow the first dollar to start with.

Two great big brave men stopped their HUDSON car on Newport Avenue in front of Santa Ana Heights at about 7 o'clock on Saturday evening, and began smashing signs with baseball bats. They put one sign (2 1-2 feet by 8 feet) on their car and boldly returned to their work of destruction, but when a lone woman approached these big brave men fled like the sneaks they are.

Declaring that if it is necessary, and the council will support him, he will carry the case to the supreme court, Z. B. West Jr., city attorney, today said that he expected to have ready by one week from next Monday evening a resolution declaring the intention of the city council to improve certain unimproved portions of East Fourth street.

The proceedings will be directed against Frank Thomson, owner of frontage at 902 East Fourth street, and against the owner of a lot on the opposite side of the street, generally referred to here as the Compton property.

At the time the repaving of the street two years ago, under private contract, the owners of these two pieces refused to have improvements made in front of their lots.

Thomson at one time sought to put down pavement under his own formula, but was halted by the city.

Forcing of paving in front of the two lots had been debated before the council many times, but until the present no step of a definite character had been taken to make the property owners pave in front of their properties.

The city attorney is under instruction of the city council to institute proceedings under the street improvements acts, which means the formation of an assessment district. While the district will include more than the two lots involved, the cost of the work will be assessed only against the two pieces of property—and the cost, it is declared, will be excessive as compared with what they would have been had the work been done at the time the street was repaved, or could be done for now under private contract.

Thomson recently stated that he did not fear results of legal action by the city, declaring that the city, following completion of the original paving on the street, entered into an agreement with property owners by which the city assumed full responsibility for future maintenance of the street.

W. G. Knox, city engineer, stated today that George L. Bates, of Orange, who was city engineer at the time of the original paving on East Fourth, recently informed him that an attempt was made by the property owners to secure such an agreement, but that the city council refused to act in accordance with the owners' wishes.

set a new record for the office. Until that month, the month of March with total fees of $3956.25 held the record with April, having a total of $3951.75, a close second.

The tremendous gain in the business of the office brings into bold relief the fact that the office work is handicapped by lack of help, it was said. Under the state supreme court decision recently given, Miss Whitney cannot have additional office deputies during her term of office, she said. That is, even though the work of the office doubles or quadruples, she must get along with the same number of office assistants as she had when she entered the office, according to her interpretation of the ruling.

This does not hold true in relation to copyists, who are paid on a per folio basis, she said. Miss Whitney is able to keep the copying work of the office up to date, but there is no way in which indexing and paging and similar work can keep up with the increased business of the office, she said. Because of this situation, documents recorded the last week in April are just now ready to be returned to those who recorded them, according to Miss Whitney.

She said: "Adding to the pressure of business of the office is the fact that the Torrens land business of the office takes all or nearly all of the time of one deputy. Every transaction in relation to every one of the hundreds of pieces of property in this county that were placed under the Torrens system during a period of Torrens activity four or five years ago has to be noted in the recorder's office, and Torrens certificates must be prepared upon the transfer of any of these properties."

Notice to Contractors
Notice is hereby given that The Board of Education of the Santa Ana High School District, California, will receive bids for the program clock and telephone systems for the new Junior High School building, now being erected on the public school grounds at South Main street and Fairview avenue.

Bids must be made out on forms which may be obtained from the architect, and must be accompanied by a certified or Cashiers Check of a value equal to five per cent (5%) of amount of complete bid, made payable to the Secretary of the Board. All bids must be sealed and delivered at the office of the Board, Church and Sycamore streets, Santa Ana, Calif., on or before 1:30 p. m. Thursday, June 21st, 1923. Bids will be opened in public at the Board office at a special session on the same afternoon.

The successful bidder will be required to give an approved bond of a value equal to 50% of the amount of his contract, as a labor and material bond; he will also be required to give an additional bond of an equal value, to guarantee that the work of the contract will be done and completed according to the terms of the contract. Both these bonds to be given by a bonding company approved by the Board of Education.

Copies of the general plans and specifications may be seen at the building or at the office of the Board of Education; copies of the specifications for the clock and telephone systems may be obtained from the architect, Frederick H. Ely, Santa Ana, Calif.

The Board of Education reserves the right to reject any or all bids which may be received.

Cost of Building In Line With Income Boost, Says Editor

"It is common to hear the expression, 'I won't build now as cost of construction is too high,'" said an editorial in the Riverside Press. "Incomes are as much higher in proportion today as is cost of construction and the man who uses his head and does not demand every newfangled contraption that an architect or contractor can propose for his house, can build with his present-day income and have a larger margin left than would have been possible in 1913.

"Don't blame the present building costs entirely on the lumber and labor. Remember that in nine cases out of ten your ideas of what you want have expanded with your income and you would not be satisfied today with the 1913 bungalow."

Taxes at $100, insurance at $30, repairs and upkeep at $100 and 7 per cent interest on a $5,000 house amounts to $580 a year. If you pay $50 a month rent for nine years you have $5400 worth of rent receipts worth nothing. If you put $50 a month into a home for five years, even if it was necessary to cut out a few theater parties or clothes to make up interest, etc., until the property was paid for, you would have an asset worth probably more than $5400 at the end of nine years and your family would have a roof over its head which could not be taken away from them for failure to pay a month's rent.

"Don't kid yourself, you can own a home as well as you could ten years ago if you want to. It is not the cost of building that will prevent you, it is the cost of satisfying your inflated demands for luxuries and modern extravagances that prevents most people from building or buying a home already built."

COLLEGE GRADS TO BE GIVEN DIPLOMAS

The seventh class to graduate from the Santa Ana Junior college will be given diplomas to-night at the Junior college commencement exercises to be held in the high school auditorium.

J. A. Cranston, superintendent of city schools, will preside and will call first for an invocation by the Rev. Moffett Rhodes, pastor of the Spurgeon Memorial church.

"Song of the Vikings" will follow by the Junior college mixed chorus.

The address of the evening will be given by the Rev. Dr. Frank Roach, pastor of the First Methodist church, Long Beach.

Two songs by the Junior college girls' glee club will be "Song of the Rhine Maidens" and "The Nightingale and the Rose."

The class of nineteen members will be presented by D. K. Hammond, dean of the college, and diplomas will be awarded by F. L. Andrews, secretary of the board of education.

Robert Green will accept the diplomas for the graduating class and the commencement will close with the singing of "America."

Members of the graduating class are Frances Baker, Velda Barnes, Lois Bear, Dwyler Bigelow, Onita Cain, Tessie Childers, Robert Green, Carl Hagge, Bernice Hayward, Avery Howell, Rose avenue, and just off the boulevard from Anaheim to Olive, Gregg owns fifty-five acres of oranges nearby, giving him seventy-five acres of high class Valencia oranges in that immediate neighborhood.

Gregg has been a resident of Orange county for thirty years, and has been actively engaged in citrus culture. It was pointed out today that his big investment in citrus property evidences his faith in the future of the industry in this county.

Williams is authority for the statement that the grove is one of the finest in the county. The trees are twelve years old.

LAGUNA BEACH

According to reports from Laguna Beach today, Mrs. Ella H. Goodrich has sold an apartment house on the cliffs to Mrs. Emily L. Hall, of Santa Ana, at a reported consideration of $4250. The property involved is lot 5, block 9, Laguna Cliffs.

It was also reported that R. Clarkson Colman, artist, has sold a cottage at Arch Beach to William Frauenberger, an automobile dealer at Alhambra. The consideration is reported at $4500.

HOME ASPARAGUS

Come to Santa Ana and LIVE!

THIS is an invitation, cordial but urgent; and we emphasize the word LIVE, because we know—and can prove to you if you will honor us by a visit—that no finer or better LIVING conditions are to be found anywhere. In many respects the LIVING conditions in Santa Ana are better and finer than those of any other place.

From 1910 to 1920 Santa Ana's population increased from 8,342 to 15,483. Since 1920 it has increased to over 25,000—many estimates place it at 27,000 or more. "THERE'S A REASON."

Here are a few statements of fact about Santa Ana and Orange County that we would like to prove to you by sending you verified details or by having you come and see for yourself:

CLIMATE—The average or all-the-year-round climate of Santa Ana and vicinity is pronounced by world-wide travellers to be practically perfect. Santa Ana is situated only ten miles from the Pacific Ocean on one side and about the same average distance from the mountains on the other side.

SOIL—It is enough to say that the soil of Orange County produces annual crops of fruits, grains, forage, vegetables, poultry, live stock and oil valued at over $92,000,000. This is the return to growers and producers and the figures are official. The variety of products is almost infinite, and the yield is continuous, some products going to market in carload and trainload lots daily throughout the year.

SOCIAL CONDITIONS—The social and home conditions are ideal. Every convenience and refinement of city life may be enjoyed in the quietude and beauty of the country. Santa Ana has 50 miles of paved streets, natural gas ($1.00 per 1000 cubic feet), electric lights (8c per kilowatt hour), and power, municipally owned and operated water works ($1.25 per 1000 cubic feet), 32 Churches, over $1,500,000 worth of school buildings and a school system educationally second to none.

INDUSTRIAL—Santa Ana is the metropolis, political capital (county seat) and commercial center of Orange County, the largest and best Valencia orange growing district in the world.

Santa Ana is also the largest English walnut shipping point in the world. The soil products of Orange County are of infinite variety, finest quality and immense volume, amounting to over $40,000,000 annually; adding oil the total value of our products is over $92,000,000 annually.

Santa Ana has five banks whose combined daily average deposits for the past year amounted to more than $13,000,000. In 1922 Santa Ana erected 896 residences of a value of $2,107,958, and its total building permits amounted to $3,771,831. Its total permits for the first five months of this year amount to $2,259,970.

Come and See or Let Us Tell You

SANTA ANA is only an hour and a half and thirty-six miles from Los Angeles, and you can drive here in your own auto, or in a public auto, through the finest orange groves and walnut groves in the world; or you can come by rail on the Santa Fe or Pacific Electric.

The best and quickest way to find out what you may want to know about Santa Ana is to visit Santa Ana and Orange County, which we most cordially invite you to do without further delay. But if you want more specific information about this section before deciding to visit it, all you have to do is to fill out the coupon in the lower right-hand corner of this advertisement and mail it to the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

MODJESKA'S LIFE HISTORY

By reason of the wide-spread interest and inquiries which have developed pertaining to Madame Modjeska's home in the Forest of Arden, Orange County's only mountain attraction, there is being developed an inquiry for Madame Modjeska's autobiography, a book, it is regrettable to state which is now out of print.

Madame Modjeska was one of Orange County's most enthusiastic property owners and residents. For over 25 years the famous Modjeska Ranch, "Forest of Arden" was her place of residence between theatrical seasons, and she devoted a considerable space in her book to Orange County and her connection with it. It would seem that this book would be of inestimable value to Orange County, so much so that perhaps it is a matter that should be brought to the attention of Commercial Clubs, Chambers of Commerce, Boards of Trade, Board of Supervisors, City Councils, Town Trustees, Rotary Clubs and all clubs and organizations composed of public spirited members.

A plan could easily be worked out at a very slight expense to procure the copyright and plates of this book and to have an edition printed, a copy of which could be placed in every public library in Southern California and copies placed on sale in all the book stores in Southern California. The returns from these sales would not only repay every subscriber to this fund the amount of his original investment but the profit therefrom could be kept to increase its sale, to the widest possible degree.

Apart from every other consideration, this book would be of great advertising value to Orange County and would more widely extend its fame among a discerning class of people.

All that is needed to accomplish this is for some person, club, or organization to bring it to the attention of every organization, which is public spirited enough to realize that this is, apart from every other consideration, one of the best pieces of publicity that Orange County could get.

There is, of course, a higher and better consideration—the respect and homage that would be shown to the memory of Madame Modjeska for her selection of Orange County as her place of residence as early as 1878, and her continued love for it for a period of more than 30 years.

The olive grove adjacent to the Modjeska Home grounds has been subdivided into mountain home sites which are now being offered at very low prices and on very easy terms. A number of selections have already been made, several houses are now in the course of construction, and there is considerable activity in the immediate vicinity. These home sites are offered at the very low prices of $200 to $300 each on terms of $20 to $30 down and a like amount every six (6) months.

You are cordially invited to visit Madame Modjeska's Home at your early convenience and to become familiar with the new plan pertaining to the Home, and, if interested, to look over the property now being offered for mountain homes. Agent on the property every day. We will be glad to send you booklet and further information on request.

DIPLOMAS TENDERED JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL HIGHEST CLASS

With mingled feelings of regret and triumph, the scores of youthful graduates of Santa Ana Junior high school were today reviewing last night's impressive exercises at the high school auditorium, when they received their diplomas, presented by J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of schools.

"Together with my happiness in presenting these diplomas to you, is an added feeling of pleasure in the fact that I need not make a speech," stated Superintendent Cranston, adding that he had intended to speak about the advisability of clean young manhood and womanhood and the value of sports and athletics, but that these had been discussed capably by John W. Ester Jr. He also stated that his remaining themes had been equally well handled by E. B. Sprague, cashier of the Orange County Trust & Savings bank, speaker of the evening, and by H. G. Nelson, junior high school principal.

It was an inspiring sight to see the class seated in alternate rows of butterfly-gowned young girls and more soberly clad young men in tiers on the stage.

Class Athlete Awarded
A musical program included delightful violin numbers by a group including Miss Georgia Belle Watson, a talented young musician of the school. Introduction of Mr. Estes was followed by his presentation, on behalf of the Kiwanis club, of a silver cup to Sam Nova, adjudged the best all-around athlete of the class. Young Nova is the son of the Rev. J. C. Nova, former pastor of the Mexican Methodist church.

Mr. Sprague's introduction came next, and following his very interesting talk was one by Principal Nelson, in which he compared the cost of educating the nation's youth with that of other public and private enterprises.

He then introduced Superintendent Cranston, who, after his brief remarks, presented the diplomas as members of the class passed him to the strains of a stirring march.

A patriotic song sung by the mixed chorus of young voices, the flag salute and, finally, the benediction, pronounced by the Rev. H. L. H. Benton, completed the first junior high school graduation exercises ever to be held in the high school auditorium.

Graduation Time for Pride
Sprague said in part:

"The people of Santa Ana have come together with a good deal of pride and anticipation when they meet to see the ninth grade graduate into the high school. They realize that these students, when they enter high school, are entering one of the great adventures of life.

"They are starting in on a time, if used aright, that will be to their lasting pleasure and benefit.

"Of course, it is to be supposed that they will make mistakes, but it is hoped that they will not make too many and that, as a rule, they will improve their opportunities and make the most of them.

"It will be a time when they will make friends who will be close to them all through life, and it is hoped they will seek the best and most congenial friends; that they will put into their common law three years the best things that they can obtain and waste no time on non-essentials."

Wife Says Mate Used House Money for Booze

Charging her husband, Evan G. Edmunds, with cruelty, Thelma G. Edmunds today had brought suit for divorce in superior court here.

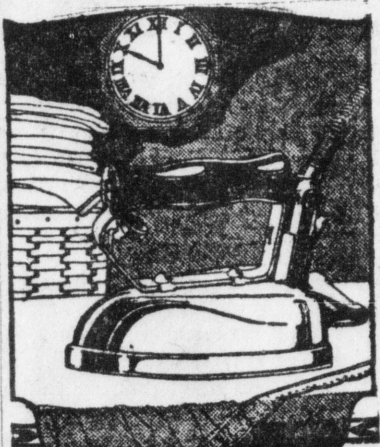

He wrote a worthless check March 9 of this year, and to avoid prosecution, deserted his wife and child, she claimed. He returned and left again several weeks ago, she claimed.

He often purchased liquor with money which she gave him for household affairs, she claimed. Attorney Charles D. Swanner represented the plaintiff.

GET NERVE FORCE FROM NUXATED IRON

It will strengthen your nerves and increase your vigor and endurance, often in two weeks' time. It contains the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force in a form which most nearly resembles that in the brain and nerve cells of man. It also contains organic iron like the iron in your blood, and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. Organic iron enriches the blood and plenty of rich red blood means more nerve force, so that Nuxated Iron not only feeds what might be termed artificial nerve force to the nerve cells, but it stimulates the blood to manufacture a greatly increased supply of new nerve force. Get a bottle of Nuxated Iron today, and it within two weeks' time you do not feel that it has increased your nerve force, and made you feel better and stronger in every way, your money will be refunded. COUNTY EDUCATION POSTS YET EMPTY

Unless the board of supervisors has appointed two members to fill vacancies on the county board of education, which occur and must be filled July 1, the duty of making the appointments falls by law on that date to the county school superintendent. It was announced today by R. P. Mitchell, county school superintendent. The terms of George Sherwood of Orange and Charles C. Smith of Anaheim, as county board of education members, expire July 1. Mitchell said he was of the opinion that the two men would be re-elected.

"Appointment of county board of education members is a duty of the board of supervisors," Mitchell said. "I assume that the supervisors will make the two necessary appointments at a future meeting.

"Unless the appointments have been made by July 1, however, the law regulating such matters passes the duty to the county school superintendent.

"No applications have been received here, or by the board of supervisors, to the best of my knowledge, for the two positions. I believe the incumbents will be re-elected."

Bride of 11 Days Is Deserted, Suit Claim

Asserting that her husband, Lee Don Allen, deserted her after 11 days of married life, Esther Allen today brought suit for divorce in superior court here.

They were married March 3, 1921, and separated March 14 following, she claimed.

Attorney James L. Hansen represented the wife.

Man Sought When Auto Is Not Found

Charged with embezzling a costly automobile, J. K. Callicotte was today being sought by sheriff's operatives, who held a warrant for his arrest.

The car was the property of T. D. Ryan, who swore to the complaint.

Why This Doctor Advises Hokara

Says It Gives Instant Relief In Many Skin Troubles

It is not often that a doctor comes right out and endorses any preparation but when he does you may be sure it is something out of the ordinary. Read what Dr. Johnson, skin specialist, says about Hokara, the antiseptic, astringent, greaseless Cream:

"For over twenty-five years in my practice I have used many kinds of preparations called 'skin foods' but never until I found Hokara did I see such beautiful and satisfactory results. I use it on all my patients. It cleanses the skin and makes it soft and fresh looking, producing firmness and giving power to the tissues. All those to whom I have recommended it are delighted with its use."

If you suffer with skin trouble so that the itching seems almost unbearable and the skin is so broken out that you are sensitive about your appearance, don't think it necessary to use some greasy vile smelling ointment or salve. Just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Hokara. C. S. Kelley Drug Store can supply you.—Adv.

BUILDERS PLAN HEADQUARTERS OFFICE HERE

With Santa Ana selected as the permanent home of the Orange County Builders' exchange, and a committee instructed at a meeting of the Orange county unit this week to negotiate a lease for headquarters in the George A. Barrows building at 208 Spurgeon street, preparations today were going forward for opening of permanent headquarters.

An adjourned meeting of the organization will be held at the new headquarters on June 20, when the appointment of an executive secretary will be taken up and a membership drive outlined.

It was the opinion of members present at the meeting that the work of the exchange should be extended, especially at this time, while so much building is in progress, and that the headquarters should be dedicated and equipped for the use of the general public looking for reliable building service or information.

It was stated by a member today that the motto of the exchange is integrity and efficiency, and that all members must live up to the motto and be financially responsible, otherwise they will be asked to resign.

"Growth of builders exchanges all over the country in the past year has been remarkable," said the member. "They are filling a very important need in the community—that of offering to the building public buying building service a medium through which they can obtain information of a reliable contractors and building material merchants."

Inexpensive Method of Reducing Dangerous Swollen Veins at Home

Doctor's Recent Discovery, Also Heals Ulcers, Boils, Carbuncles, Abscesses and Open Sores in a Few Days

The world progresses. To-day ailments that took weeks to cure now are ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start this today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moore's Emerald Oil besides being one of the most powerful of antiseptics capable of destroying the most pernicious germs and the poisons caused by them, is also a marvelous healing agent.

One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications causes the eruption to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. Itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammation is equally as effective in barber's matry skin trouble.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, wens or goitre, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, boils, abscesses or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you.

YOST—Vaudeville and "Within the Law," with Norma Talmadge.

WEST END—"Bell Boy 13," with Douglas MacLean.

"POOR MEN'S WIVES" AT TEMPLE TONIGHT.

Just who are the "Poor Men's Wives"—those rich in money or rich in love?

This is the theme of the picture of that title, which begins a four day engagement at the Temple theater tonight.

Written by Frank Dacey and Agnes Christine Johnson, the authors of "Rich Men's Wives," the companion piece of this play, "Poor Men's Wives," is a greater picture than the first Gasnier production, for it reaches more intimate heights and touches closer real life.

As Laura, Barbara LaMarr has the role of her career. In her scenes with David Butler, who plays the young husband, she is said to rise to emotional heights that surprised and delighted even her strongest fans. Butler plays a lovable son of the common people as if the part were made for him, while Betty Francisco, as "Claribel," gives the picture a portrayal that wins the sympathy of the audience.

Richard Tucker is a luxurious villain, and Za Su Pitts her usual brilliant self.

"BELL BOY 13" CLOSING RUN TONIGHT.

Maggie's vocal exercises in "Bringing Up Father" have nothing on the warbling of Miss Abigail Fish, the elderly siren in "Bell Boy 13." Thomas H. Ince's brilliant comedy farce which closes its engagement at the West End theater tonight.

Miss Fish, determined to lure a young bond broker, whose uncle is impressed with the Fish millions, tries to charm him with song. Her yodeling shakes the candle sticks on the mantelpiece, shatters a vase or two and terrifies her victim so that he calls out the fire department to make his getaway.

The farce, in which Douglas MacLean plays the lead, is said to be one of the funniest ever screened.

"WITHIN THE LAW" IS TALMADGE TRIUMPH.

"Within the Law," which began an engagement at the Yost theater last night, makes even more secure the leadership of Norma Talmadge as a dramatic star.

A classic of the American stage, in which Jane Cowl made her biggest hit, this Bayard Veiller play DANGER IN SUBBORN COUGH. Subbourn coughs that hang on are liable to lead to serious complications and should be checked promptly with Foley's Honey and Tar. "I have not coughed since taking Foley's Honey and Tar. Legal Notice

SANTA ANA HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT

Notice to Contractors. Notice is hereby given that the Board of Trustees of the Santa Ana School District, Orange County, California, will receive bids for the erection and completion of a new grade school building to be located on the public school grounds at Third and Flower Streets, Santa Ana, Calif. Separate bids will be received on:

(A) General Contract. Bids must be made out on forms which may be obtained from the architect, and must be accompanied by a certified or Cashiers Check of a value equal to five per cent (5%) of amount of bid. All bids to be sealed and delivered at the office of the Board, Church and Sycamore streets, Santa Ana, Calif., or before 1:30 p. m. Thursday, June 21st, 1923. Bids will be opened in public at the Board office at a special session on the same afternoon.

The successful bidder will be required to give an approved bond of a value equal to 50% of the amount of his contract, as a labor and material bond; he will also be required to give an additional bond of an equal value, to guarantee that the work of the contract will be done and completed according to the terms of the contract. Both these bonds to be given by a Surety Company approved by the Board of Education.

Copies of the plans and specifications may be obtained by application to the architect, Frederick H. Ely, Santa Ana, Cal. A deposit of $25.00 will be required for copies of these plans, such deposit to be refunded when plans are returned to architect at time stipulated and in good condition.

The Board of Trustees reserves the right to reject any or all bids which may be received. By order of the Board of Trustees of the Santa Ana School District, June 6th, 1923.

she did not commit, is a heart-stirring figure. On the completion of her prison term she vows to "get square" with the store owner who was responsible for this miscarriage of justice, but determines to stay always "within the law."

"THE HEART OF WETONA" AT PRINCESS.

The fine artistry of Norma Talmadge is too well established to require amplification here, but in "Wetona" she has given the screen a portrayal which truly transcends almost any other role she has essayed. She has been prodigal of her talents to say the least.

When we consider that in addition to Miss Talmadge the cast includes Thomas Meighan and Gladys James as well as other players of recognized ability and prominence, it must be conceded that this is one picture which was predestined to success. Meighan has never done anything better than his rendition of John Hardin, while Mr. James' delineation of the despicable Anthony Wells is above criticism.

Altogether "The Heart of Wetona" is essentially the type of picture which justifies the policy of revivals.

ZONING ORDINANCE IN LEGAL LIGHT

With the city council rescinding recently a zoning ordinance adopted hurriedly, and provisions of such ordinance referred to frequently as a necessity for this city, it will be of interest to local residents to know that a Texas court recently ruled that where improvements are not restricted in a deed of conveyance, by dedication, or by agreement of all owners in a district, an owner may deal with his property in accordance with his own free will, so long as his action does not endanger public health, safety and morals.

A similar ruling was made by the superior court of San Bernardino shortly after the Santa Ana zoning ordinance was adopted.

Another decision of local interest is that by a court in New Jersey to the effect that real estate brokers who act as agent for two owners negotiating an exchange are guilty of fraud in their relations with one of the owners if they fail to properly notify him that they are representing the other side to the transaction.

During discussions relating to the building of store rooms on the northeast corner of Washington avenue and Main street when building operations were held up

CITY MEN WANT FARMS SAYS REALTOR

Changing motives are actuating the newcomers in California, many of them preferring a life in the open on small farms to life in the cities and work in shops, according to George C. Peckham, sales agent for the great Norco project in the Riverside-Arlington district.

"The small farm is having magnetic appeal for the man who has worked many years in shop or factory," said Peckham.

"More than half the sales at Norco farms since its opening, May 13, have been made to men who desire to break away from the humdrum existence in shops and offices.

"Hundreds of growers at Norco are engaged in small scale farming and fruit raising, some of them having been in the district for several years. One settler, previously an auto mechanic in New York City, started several years ago with 10 acres. Today he owns 46 acres, all purchased with the earnings of his farm, which is principally planted to deciduous fruits.

"Knowing that this class of people were purchasing at Norco," continued Mr. Peckham, "the North Corona Land company, owners of Norco townsite and farms, has provided many facilities which will be appreciated alike by novice and experienced farmer. Among other things, the services of a staff of horticultural and poultry experts is provided free of charge to the purchasers of Norco farms. Model poultry and livestock plants, a produce exchange, a department store, markets, a machine shop, planing mill and even a cement plant for the construction of building material for homes, water pipe and roofing have been provided."

on instruction of the council to the building inspector to suspend a permit issued, the right of the inspector to refuse the permit was questioned.

A Texas court has held that under an ordinance providing for the issuance by the building inspector of building permits, an application for a permit is not left to the discretion of the inspector, but can be rejected only where the building specifications do not comply with the definite, certain and established terms of the ordinance.

PRaises L. A. VOTE FOR HARBOR BONDS

LONG BEACH, June 7.—The success of the harbor bond proposal at the Los Angeles municipal election this week will give great impetus to the program for development and improving Long Beach Harbor, in the opinion of City Manager Windham.

With the issuance of bonds for improving Los Angeles harbor assured, co-operation between the two cities in deepening the connecting channel between their harbors is certain, he said.

The Union Pacific railroad system and the Long Beach harbor interests are behind the plan to deepen the channel to a uniform depth of thirty feet, and this work will be followed immediately by operations to bring all of the channels and basins in the inner harbor to the same uniform depth.

As rapidly as the channel is deepened, Windham believes, industries will settle along the harbor, increasing the city's tax income to a point more than sufficient to offset the expenditures for this work.

Bids were to be opened by the city today for the dredging of the connecting channel to a depth of twenty-five feet. The channel will be deepened through the turning basin to the municipal dock at the head of channel No. 3. The deepening will be confined to the south side of the channel and the work is expected to cost approximately $100,000 and to be completed in about six months.

ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

Stocks Make Slight Gain During Day of Light Dealing on Exchange

NEW YORK, June 7.—Prices were somewhat higher today on the stock market in another session of limited dealings. Nothing happened either in the news of the day or in the price movement on the exchange to give support to the theory that the business trend had turned downward.

Persistent strength in representative industrials and rails spoke eloquently of the confidence existing in the commercial and financial world regarding the fundamental wholeness of the economic situation. Such items as the announcement of accessory manufacturers that June releases were larger than any previous month, despite the fact that a representative concern like Stewart-Warner showed an increase of 130 per cent in sales to the first of the month, demonstrated that the much-heralded let up had made no material progress.

Julius Kaiser stock sold up to 95 1/2, a net gain of 1-3/4, due partly to the receding prices of fall silk and the prediction that earnings for the year to end August will show around $12 a share compared with $10 in the preceding year.

Closing prices included: American Locomotive 144 1/4, off 1-1/4; Baldwin 132, off 1-1/4; Texas Company 45 1/2, off 1-1/4; Pan-American 112, off 1-1/4; California Petroleum 112 1/2, off 1-1/4; Studebaker 112 1/2, off 1-1/4; Anaconda 45 1/4, off 1-1/4; Kelly Spring field 45 3/4, up 7-8; American Can 100 1/8, off 3-8; Coca Cola $2 1/4, up 1/8; Atchafalpa 101 3/8, up 3-8; New York Central 89 1/8, off 3-8; Peco Marquette 45 3/8, up 7-8.

FINANCIAL COMMENT

Short Talks on Current Events of Interest to Investors By James Wilbur

With the assistance of foreign capital Austria once more has taken her place among the solvent nations of the world, after a descent into the sloughs of bankruptcy from which her rescue appeared all but hopeless.

Austria was one of the first nations of Europe to seize upon currency inflation as a means to pay the expenses of government in the crisis immediately following the war. With only a small portion of her former great territory remaining, suffering the pangs of defeat and with a population discouraged and discontented, Austria's condition appeared almost hopeless.

With the constant emission of paper money the kronen rapidly decreased in value until it was on a par with the Russian rouble. The country was bankrupt in every sense of the word.

At this point the leaders of Austria adopted heroic measures. They admitted bankruptcy and asked the nations of the world for what virtually is a receivership. The powers came to the rescue of the struggling nation. Temporary loans were granted, her currency was stabilized and Austria began the upward climb.

In the period since assistance was first given the prostrate nation, recovery has been rapid. Bank deposits have almost doubled; her commerce is on a sound basis, and the people once more have taken heart.

Austria now is seeking to borrow $100,000,000 with which to complete her restoration. The sale of these bonds has been undertaken by the powers, and $25,000,000 will be offered in the United States. The bonds are secured by a lien on the customs, and the disbursement of the money will be under the direct supervision of the loaning nations.

The headway made by Austria toward a place among the solvent nations of the world is in direct contrast to the attitude assumed by Germany. The latter country, although possessed of ample resources to wipe out her debts, is seeking in every way to avoid just obligations.

GRAIN PRICES DROP WITH MARKET DULL

Wheat Maintains Weak Undertone As Buyers Continue Inactive

(By United Press Leased Wire) CHICAGO, June 7.—Lack of demand and a dull market caused grain prices to decline at the close of the Chicago board of trade today.

Wheat maintained its weak undertone. Buyers were inactive. Advances from the northwest declared crops were in good condition. Export business was dull.

Corn weakened with continued free country offerings, especially in the south and southeast, where farmers were reported disposing of their stocks. The feeding demand from these sections has practically disappeared. Cash prices were generally lower. Crop news was generally favorable.

Oats lacked feature. Buying for foreign accounts and some short covering helped provisions to retain its strong undertone.

PROTEST MONOPOLY OF NEW YORK CLUBS

Rumble of Insurgent Team Owners Becomes Roar As Yanks, Giants Lead

BY HENRY L. FARRELL,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, June 7.—Something is going to be done about the New York monopolization of world series in restraint of trade. A tornado conjured up by mid-westerners is again forming as the Yanks lead their nearest opponents by 124 points and the Giants have a lead of 155 points in the pennant race.

These runaway races following two consecutive world series between the New York clubs are not helping pocketbooks of the other magnates as the figures plainly show. Nor are they increasing interest in baseball throughout the country.

Try to Match New York
The insurgent owners have tried matching New York at its own game of pouring money into a baseball machine, but that hasn't helped any.

Comiskey ground up thousands of greenbacks in a meat chopper he figured to turn out a money-making ball club but he got only hash.

Willie Kamm would have been worth $100,000 to anyone else but he hasn't cashed a cent for the White Sox who still are languishing in the cellar with prospects that they will remain there. There is even talk now that Comiskey is sick of the job and is willing to sell his franchise.

Run Away With Cash
Meanwhile the Yanks and Giants continue to run away with the pennant and the money. Both apparently are in a class by themselves and seem destined to starve a third consecutive private world series in New York unless that "something" is done.

It took the International league club owners several years to break up the Baltimore team which had run away with things in that circuit and hurt business in other towns. The movement against New York has been under way for some time, but the rumble is becoming a roar, and the roar threatens to be an eruption.

BOSTON IS BUGBEAR CLUB FOR YANK AGE
Once upon a time Joe Bush was the star pitcher of the Boston Red Sox. That was after Joe had been sold to that team by Philadelphia, with which he had occupied a similar role.

A star in Boston seldom stays very long in the City of Culture. He is sold to New York. It was so in the case of Joe Bush.

Last season, in his first year as a Yankee, Bush had a big season, losing only seven games, yet strangely enough four of the seven defeats were inflicted by his former teammates, the tail-end Bostonians.

It looks as if the jinx is to continue this year. In his first start against Boston, Bush won after a tough battle. In his second start he was beaten, 5 to 3, despite the fact that he allowed only eight hits and struck out eight batters.

It also was the irony of fate that George Murray, traded to Boston for Pennock, pitched the victory over Bush.

In The Big Leagues
Red Faber "came back" and knocked the first homer of his career and Herb Pennock lost his first game of the season when the White Sox beat the Yanks, 4 to 1.

Connolly hit a home run with the bases full and Cleveland beat the Red Sox, 17 to 4.

Four Philadelphia double plays cut down the St. Louis attack and the Athletics triumphed, 5 to 2.

Walter Johnson's good form enabled Washington to defeat the Tigers, 5 to 1. Detroit got only five hits.

Routier again blew up and the Pirates pounded him for six hits in the sixth inning, defeating Brooklyn 7 to 3.

The Giants got only three hits off Aldridge and the Cubs won easily, 6 to 1.

Myers' sacrifice in the 12th inning gave the Cards a 7 to 6 victory over the Phillies.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Jimmy O'Connell, the $75,000 outfielder, has had heaps of trouble getting started with the New York Giants.

The prize youngster has psychology working on him and it's a tough allotment for a young ball player to overcome. His price tag of $75,000 imposed a tremendous handicap, the commission of stepping from minor league stardom into a regular position on a world's champion club was an additional load, but the toughest assignment he was put up against was the job of keeping the fans with him when he displaced the most popular player on the Giants.

Even though he started out to hit the size of his hat and fielded hardly above the ordinary, New York fans were more than fair to young O'Connell and they treated him generously.

Old sentiment for Casey Stengel, the most popular player on the Giant club, whom O'Connell displaced as a regular, was shown noisily, however, whenever Casey appeared in the field or took active part in the game, and O'Connell apparently misunderstood the demonstration and took it for a personal reproach.

John McGraw knows the nature of O'Connell's ailment and he is using a sort of serum remedy and treating a psychological disease with psychology.

From the start, the Giant leader has let Jimmy alone and by word and action he is trying to convey to his young star that he is getting along well and will make good. O'Connell is not a natural outfielder and probably he never will be. But he is a natural hitter, and as soon as he acquires the standpoint of the veteran player that a game is only a game and that a crowd is just there to occupy seats he may live up to all that was expected of him.

When all records were broken last year by a flood of almost a million dollars from major league treasuries for minor league players, close followers of baseball predicted the demise of an orgy of spending and held out the opinion that the days of high-priced ball players had passed.

On the contrary, early development this season seem to indicate that the major league magnates will have to pay even more money next year for the privilege of picking the prize players from the bushes.

Jack Dunn, who sold Jack Bentley to the New York Giants for $65,000 last winter, laughed at Charley Ebbets when the Brooklyn owner offered $100,000 for his shortstop, Joe Boley. Everyone laughed, however, when Ebbets showed an inclination to spend more than a quarter.

Indications that Dunn wants bigger dough than ever for his stars were further strengthened when he broke out with another chuckle of mirth when the Detroit Tigers said something about a willingness to produce about $100,000 for "Lefty" Groves, Dunn's sensational southpaw, who ran up a record of 59 strikeouts in four games.

From the Pacific Coast league comes the word that $100,000 will be considered only as an evidence of good faith when the major league buyers visit the coast next fall and start negotiating for Gene Valla, the outfielding sensation of the San Francisco club.

Do You Know?

"Did the loss of one of his fingers hurt Tilden's game?" Tilden lost only a part of one of the fingers on his racket hand and it apparently has not hurt his game as he defeated William M. Johnston in the two opening exhibition matches of the season and he was in his regular game.

"How many of the ring champions have cauliflower ears?" Johnny Dundee, the junior lightweight champion, if he is considered to have a rating as a champion, is the only one who bears marks from ring engagements. He has a "tin-ear." Dempsey got the "markings" of one in his last fight with Brennan but he had it treated at once and escaped a permanent mark. Jack Britton, former welterweight champion, has a puffed ear.

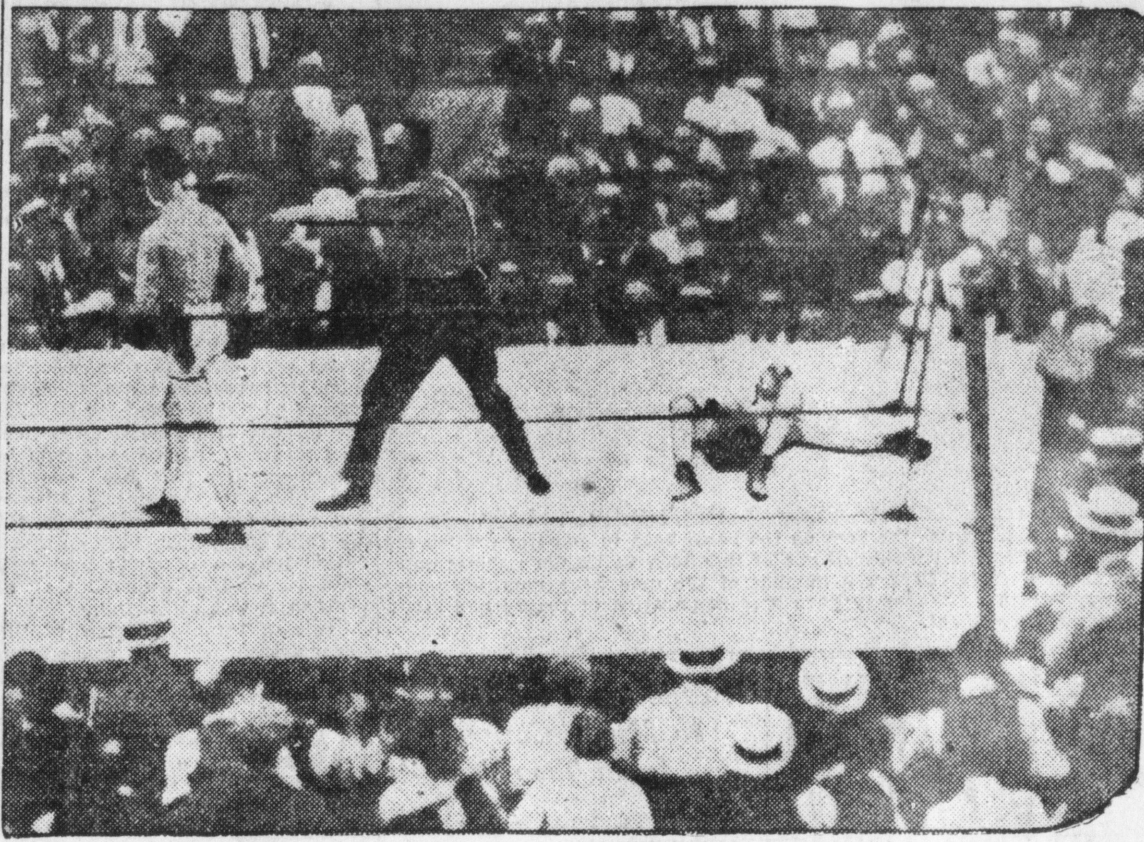

"Had any American before Francis Ouimet won the St. George's Cup. Does the cup come to this country?" Ouimet is the first American golfer to win the St. George's Cup, considered the best golf trophy in England. The original cup does not come to this country, the deed stipulating that exact replicas of the trophy be given to winners.

"Where and when is the British open golf championship to be held this year?" At Troon on June 14 and 15.

DUKE BREAKS RECORDS.
LOS ANGELES, June 7.—Duke Kahanamoku broke the world's swimming record for the 50-yard dash in a match race here last night when he swam the distance in 22 3-5 seconds. The previous record, held by Johnny Weismuller, was 22 4-5 seconds.

KILBANE TAKES THE COUNT

The dramatic moment of a world's championship battle for fistie honors is shown in this picture: Johnny Kilbane, for years featherweight champion of the world, flat on his back in the ring, as thousands looked on at the Polo Grounds, New York, June 2 and Eugene Criqui, French war hero, moving toward his corner as the referee points to him as the winner. It was a right to the jaw that put the Cleveland champion to the floor. He rose to a sitting position at the count of five, but fell back and took the count.

L. A. White Sox to Meet Bean Growers Again Next Sunday

The Los Angeles White Sox, a team composed of colored players, will hobnob with the Irvine baseball club at Irvine again next Sunday, Arthur Trickey, manager, announced today.

The White Sox played the Bean Growers two weeks ago, the Orange county men winning, 7 to 4. Irvine scored all its runs in the second frame but were held helpless by Pitcher Woods thereafter.

The White Sox captain has assured Trickey that he will start Woods on the mound Sunday and that all of his men were anxious to get some revenge.

ORANGE COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETES UNDER NEW SCHOLASTIC RULE NEXT YEAR

To compete in contests of the Orange league next year, Orange county high school students must have a passing grade in four subjects the week of the athletic competition, it was learned here today following a meeting of principals of the schools concerned.

In taking this stand, the county officials have placed themselves on record as opposing any movement that would allow a student to participate on athletic teams unless his classroom standing in every registered subject is such that he could afford the time from his study to practice in the afternoons.

In passing its rule, at the same time, the Orange league has set a scholastic requirement that has gone the rule of the California interscholastic Federation, the state athletic governing body, one better.

The C. I. F. set rule is that no student may represent his institution in a contest unless he shall be "passing" (doing satisfactory work) in at least three subjects.

The average pupil in high school carries four subjects. In passing his rule, the county organization has clearly expressed itself that it believes no student should devote time to athletics unless his work in school is such that his instructors feel he may spare the necessary time from his books.

"The rule will not injure athletics here or at other Orange county schools," D. K. Hammond, principal of the Santa Ana high school, told local students at their assembly yesterday. "As a rule Santa Ana's athletes have been better than the average in their regular classroom work.

"The requirement will spur the real athletes, the men who go into sports for the good they will get out of it and for the good they will do their school, to do better work in their subjects so that nothing may keep them from making the team."

The county principals also voted to have all first and 130-pound team games next season played on Saturdays. Many of the contests were played during the week last year.

Women Tell Each Other How They Have Been Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Perryburg, O.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with pains in my sides all the time. I can't remember just how long I suffered, but it was for some time. One day I was talking with a lady I met on a car, and I told her how I was feeling and she said she had been just like I was with pains and nervous troubles, and she took the Vegetable Compound, and it cured her. So then I went and got some, and I certainly recommend it for it is good. Whenever I see any woman who is sick I try to get her to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. ADA FRICK, Route 3, Perryburg, Ohio.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

CHAMBER DRIVE UNDER WAY IN YORBA LINDA

YORBA LINDA, June 7.—With a goodly number of Yorba Linda business men already enrolled as members the Yorba Linda chamber of commerce, the baby commercial organization of Orange county, is now in the midst of a membership drive. With the completion of the enrollment effort, it is expected that the chamber will take its place as one of the most active of the smaller commercial bodies in the county.

George Raymer, secretary of the Fullerton chamber of commerce, addressed the members at a meeting this week and promised the co-operation of the larger body in furthering the development of this northern Orange county town.

E. R. Walker, secretary of the new organization, has announced the following as members: George T. Kellogg, C. M. Schultze, W. P. Doe, R. J. Harlan, D. O. Epperly, E. C. Townsend, G. S. Beal, F. N. Bank, J. W. Hargrave, E. R. West, H. A. McClatchie, San Pedro Lumber company, A. P. Kaub, Charles R. Selover, G. Kinsman, F. F. Prather, J. T. Whedon, A. J. Carter, R. Coman, S. W. Acker, M. B. Davidson, C. H. Seaman, M. J. Hauman, F. W. Stahler, E. L. Walker, J. W. Murray.

DON'T PICK BALBOA IF YOU WANT TO DROWN IN PACIFIC

With a trained volunteer life saving corps, one of the best on the coast both in point of proficiency of members and modern equipment, Balboa Beach is considered one of Southern California's safest bathing resorts. Under the leadership of Captain Antar Deraga a number of the men have qualified under the American Red Cross life saving regulations and recently gave a demonstration of rescue and resuscitation work that attracted much favorable comment.

Balboa Girl Goes To Play at Music Festival in East

BALBOA, June 7.—To represent California in the violin division of the young artists competition at the National Federation of Music Clubs in Asheville, N. C., at the thirteenth biennial festival of the organization, Miss Emma Hardy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hardy of this place, was speeding eastward today with Ruth Williams, soprano, of Long Beach. It was thought at first that Miss Hardy would be denied the opportunity to compete at the convention which lasts from June 9 to June 17, but word came by telegraph that she had been declared eligible.

Miss Hardy will take part in the preliminary contest June 9 and if she is chosen she will also play again in the finals June 11. After attending the convention Miss Hardy will visit her sister, Sophie Hardy, in New York City, for a short time.

ONE WAY TRAVEL ON PLAZA MAY BE NEW RULE

ORANGE, June 7.—The "one-way" traffic system, recommended in a resolution recently adopted by the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, is under serious consideration by the city board to solve the traffic problem around Orange's circular plaza.

Keep to Right.

Instead of traffic moving in as many as four directions, possible under the present method, traffic under the new system would move in a single channel—always to the right.

Pledging the support of his organization to aid in solving the traffic problem which is beginning to become noticeable on account of the rapid growth of this city, A. B. Davis, head of the legal department of the Automobile Club of Southern California, appeared before the city board and promised to make a survey in conjunction with local officials of traffic during the rush hours some Saturday evening.

Survey Is Planned.

During this survey the situation will be studied by expert automobile club traffic engineers with the object of formulating a satisfactory system of coping with the problem.

It is highly probable, according to Davis, that the "one-way" system under consideration by the city board would work out to better advantage than any other traffic regulation method.

Works in Los Angeles.

In fact, Davis told the board, this system is now being used advantageously at the junction of Western avenue and Wilshire boulevard, Los Angeles, where the same conditions, though, much more aggravated, existed prior to the institution of the system.

These avenues the auto club man stated, form a wide intersection with this plan, that of parking automobiles around the plaza, will also be investigated as to its feasibility, but as yet the board has not acted upon the matter, preferring to solve the traffic problem first.

Orange Club Wins In Music Contest from Two Schools

ORANGE, June 7.—For the second year the girls glee club of the local union high school has won the cup offered by the organization winning at the annual county music contest and if the trophy is again won in 1924 it will remain the property of the school.

The second victory was registered this week when, in competition with the clubs from Huntington Beach and Fullerton, the three schools having tied in the first contest, the Orange girls sang their way into first place with their pleasing rendition of "Deep River" and "The Fairy Pipers." The Fullerton singers were dressed in garb of gay colors, the Huntington Beach girls in uniform middie and skirts, and the Orange singers in white blouses and skirts.

Orange won three firsts this year, in the glee club singing, the orchestra work and in the violin contest, won by Pauline Thompson.

EL MODENA

EL MODENA, June 7.—The regular community evening was observed Friday night at Anaheim Landing by a goodly number of the El Modena people. The evening was ideal for the party on the beach. All sat around the fire and popped corn and toasted marshmallows and sang till a late hour. Several donated bathing suits and after some games on the beach took a dip in the "big blue ocean." One of the most interesting and beautiful games was a game of catch that the boys indulged in with a "fire ball." Those present to enjoy the evening were the Mesdames and Messrs. Clats Stenfield, Al Hodson, Ray Carter, Jay Stone, Mesdames George Short, Bolton, McIntosh, Nicolas, Vivian; the Misses Hillbrand, Waldorf, Townsend Granger, Mary, Pearl and Ruby Gray, Cutler, Jennie and Lora Stenfield, Adah Lois and Mary Grace Short, Carlton, Alden, Crosby, Barnett, the Messrs. Marshburn, Pratt and Willjoee Johnson, Barnett, Willis, Wright, Earl Stone and Hollis Gray.

Eighth Grade Sunday.

As has been the custom for the past several years the Eighth Grade of the El Modena school took charge of the music of the church services. There were fifteen of the class of eighteen present last night. They sang very nicely their Shepherd Psalm song and lead the congregation in the song service. They were assisted by an orchestra composed of the former graduates of the school and some of the other members of the community who enjoy helping with the music, the Misses Dye and Cutler, members of the faculty, sang a duet. Rev. Carter preached a very good sermon on "Being a Good Soldier." The church was crowded.

The bakery at El Modena, one of one-fourth blocks south of post office is now ready to serve the retail trade.—Adv.

GRAMMAR STUDENTS GRADUATE TONIGHT

TUSTIN, June 7.—Graduation exercises for the Tustin grammar school pupils who have completed their course and are now ready for high school entrance will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the school. The Tustin high school orchestra will play several numbers followed by a call to the colors by Boy Scouts and flag salute.

Address of the evening will be delivered by Rev. William Everett Roberts of Santa Ana, who has chosen for his topic "Living at the Top."

Diplomas will be presented by B. F. Beswick. The board of trustees of the school consists of F. S. Arundell, president, H. J. Plumb, clerk, W. I. Ferrey, Charles A. Welse is district superintendent.

'DARK HORSE' WINS FULLERTON PLACE

FULLERTON, June 7.—The campaign for president of the Fullerton high school student body, which has just closed here with the election of Edward Kroeger, a political "dark horse," was characterized by Kroeger would break up the "senior clique" by twenty-four votes.

The vote for student body secretary gave Charlotte Montague 263 votes, one more than that credited to Miss Betty Berkey but a recount may change the election was the victory of Kroeger. Edwards received 416 votes and Blanchard 120.

Others elected were:

Treasurer, Theron Wilson; boys' athletic manager, Arthur Hardison; girls' athletic manager, Iona Bielefeldt; forensic manager, Lili Bielefeldt; boys' board of control, Arthur Hardison, Robert Downing; girls' board of control, Gertrude Wents, Margaret Wents; yell leaders, Ernest Hart, Raymond Courtney, song leaders, Winnie May Harly, Jean Kinsman.

This evening there will be a banquet of the chamber of commerce in the Obarr banquet hall.

$1,000,000 TO BE SPENT FOR SEWER LINES

ANAHEIM, June 7.—The outfall sewer system in Orange county, by which Santa Ana, Anaheim, Fullerton, Orange and possibly Garden Grove, Placentia and Yorba Linda, will dispose of waste matter by piping it to the sea, will cost $1,000,000.

Joint Plans Approved.

This is indicated by the approval here of plans whereby Anaheim, Fullerton and Orange will co-operate on the payment for installation of several sections of the line. At a meeting, the first one held in Anaheim's new city hall, councilmen from the three cities were present and approved the plans for the joint payment.

Carrying out of plans here will necessitate the expenditure of $300,000, it was estimated.

Sections three and four of the sewer system will be constructed and maintained jointly by this city and Fullerton. On section three, about 18,000 feet, a stretch between the Anaheim sewer farm and Garden Grove, the expense will be equally divided. On section four, from Browning's corner to the Anaheim sewer farm, Fullerton will pay three-quarters of the cost and Anaheim one-quarter. Northwest Anaheim sewers will connect with this line from Fullerton.

City Expenses Given.

The maximum flow of sewer from Anaheim now is about seventy-five million gallons, that from Fullerton and Orange about sixty-five million gallons, and from Santa Ana about 200 million.

Santa Ana's expense on the line to connect with the main sewer system is about $120,000. Orange will spend around $75,000 for the same purpose and Fullerton $50,000, bringing the total for outfall sewer project to $883,000 so far.

STRONG CAST TO PRESENT COMEDY

FULLERTON, June 7.—The cast of high school seniors assembled for the presentation of the four-act comedy, "Golden Days," is one of the strongest with which she has ever worked, according to a statement today by Miss Marion Helm, director of dramatics at the Fullerton union high school. Miss Helm feels, she declared, that the play is due for an unusual success.

In marked contrast to the last dramatic effort at the school, the offering is one of present-day youth and love. There is enough intrigue to accentuate a clever plot, it is asserted.

The scenes are at the country home of the heroine, at the small town's new hotel, and in a beautiful New York residence.

The manual training department is assisting by the preparation of special scenery.

WATER PLANS ARE APPROVED AT OLIVE

OLIVE, June 7.—With the proposal to form a water works district before them, having been outlined at a big mass meeting last night, several score of water consumers at Olive today were seeking to attend a second meeting in the proposition next Tuesday night when decision in the matter is anticipated to reach a more definite stage.

Canvass Community.

In the meantime, a committee appointed to investigate the proposition further will canvass the community seeking opinions of the various consumers in connection with the plan.

The committee, consisting of W. E. Wittwer, H. C. Meyers and M. D. Payan, will also make inquiries into various methods of forming such a district with a view to selecting the most logical way to proceed.

Besides the plan submitted by K. V. Wolff, Olive banker, involving the purchase and future expansion of the Olive Investment company's water plant, now serving the community with domestic water, other proposals similar in the main but differing in the method of forming a district were discussed.

These, also will be made the subject of an investigation by the committee to determine which of the most logical is the most logical.

Meet Again Tuesday.

After diligent work along these lines, the committee will present the result of its findings at the meeting to be held next Tuesday at 7:30 o'clock in Olive Hall.

CELEBRATE "DITCH DAY"

Look at this oil range that really burns gas

You will be astonished by the intensity of the heat from the clean blue flame in the powerful burners of the wickless Florence Oil Cook Stove.

The Florence really burns gas given off by heated kerosene. The burners are large and powerful, the flame is close to the cooking.

The Florence Oil Range is a great economy, is easy to clean and to keep clean, and looks well in any kitchen. Test it for yourself at a furniture or hardware store and see whether it does not belong in your kitchen.

EVENING SALUTATION

Poor in abundance, famished at a feast, man's grief is but his grandeur in disguise, and discontent is immortality.

—Young.

A BUSINESS PROPOSITION

A periodical "run-in" in relation to the red ink condition of the city's streets funds occurred at this week's meeting of the Board of City Trustees. The condition that has existed for the past four years was discussed, and apparently the result was as usual—a conclusion that nothing comprehensive in arranging an adequate system of street maintenance can be done until the city's street department revenues are put into shape; that is, until money enough to do the work that the department ought to do is available.

The street fund is limited by a state law, by which the amount that can be raised for that department in Santa Ana is about $30,000 a year so long as the city's assessment remains as it is. This sum is no more than sufficient to pay the salaries of the heads and the regular employees of the street department. There is no money available for extensive repair work, and there is no money for buying much needed street equipment. Since there are only five or six cities of the fifth class in this state, and since all of them would probably be glad to have the state law changed so that the street levy could be raised, we overlooked an opportunity to have the limit raised by the last legislature. It is a change in law that ought to be sought at the next legislature, but, in the meantime, some other remedy must be sought.

To those who have studied the situation, there appear but two avenues of escape from the financial embarrassment under which the street department is existing. One avenue lies in the establishment of a city assessor and city tax collector, through which officials of the city can raise its assessment high enough to provide sufficient money for conducting the street department. Even this remedy cannot be effective until next year. The other avenue lies in the voting of street bonds for the purchase of street equipment. Since the voters a few weeks ago defeated street equipment bonds, it seems improbable that a new bond issue will be sought as the means for helping the street department.

There seems to be no good reason for failing to institute the city assessor system. Of course, it will cost perhaps $4,000 a year to procure the benefits of the assessment. But, if you, individually, needed money to do some important work you would go to the bank and pay for the use of money to carry out your purpose. It looks as though the city would find it a business proposition to pay the cost of an assessment department in order to get money to maintain the streets.

One thing is certain, and that is that our dirt streets, and some of our streets that are not dirt streets, need many things done to them, and that need has existed for lo these many months.

ANOTHER ARMS PARLEY

There are reports from Washington that President Harding contemplates calling another conference of world powers before long to consider the further limitation of armament. It would deal expressly with aviation, a branch of military service which, along with armies, was ignored by the last conference.

It would be a natural extension of the arms limitation idea. It was recognized by almost everybody who followed the proceedings at Washington a year ago last winter that the restriction of naval power was only the first step toward a complete program.

It has often been said that the powers gave up very little in giving up battleships, because the progress of aviation has made huge water craft more and more liable to destruction by bombing planes. It was largely for this reason, no doubt, that the leading naval powers were so willing to curtail their building operations. It is noticeable that as they stop building warships, they embark on more ambitious aircraft programs. There is already in progress a competitive struggle to create air navies comparable to the costly naval competition from which the powers are just beginning to emerge.

Clearly, if warfare is ever to be stopped by eliminating powerful fighting equipment, the reformers will soon have to tackle aircraft. The United States, from principle and precedent, would be a natural leader in this effort.

The chief cause of delay in the calling of the new conference is said to be France, which has not yet ratified the naval limitation treaty. If France ratified, the movement could be extended. Also, if France ratified, France would gain immensely in American confidence and good will.

TOO MANY ACRES IDLE

When pioneering Americans first began chopping down trees in this country's virgin forests, it was to make clearings where they could raise food. In time the purpose of timber cutting changed. Instead of supplying agricultural lands it was done to supply wood for hundreds of different uses. There was still so much timber that no one looked ahead to any time of scarcity, and whatever cleared areas were not needed for farms were left idle.

Today there are millions of cleared acres idle, according to the latest report of the Department of Agriculture. In Michigan alone, at the average rate of settlement for the last 20 years, it would take 380 years to settle the present area of cut-over lands and the remaining timber land that soon will be cut. In the southern part of the lower Michigan peninsula it would take 1,700 years.

Here is a forceful argument for reforestation. The timber supply is dwindling rapidly. There have been volumes of figures published on the subject. If it is true, as the authorities state, that "the total area of forest lands already cut or burned-over, exclusive of farm woodlots, that has not been taken for agricultural use, has already grown to 181,000,000 acres," then it is true that there are 181,000,000 acres of land crying aloud for reforestation.

THE STATIONARY EARTH

A former French premier, a physicist of the College of France, the permanent secretary of the Academy of Sciences and a member of the Paris observatory are now involved in a heated discussion. Does the world revolve or does it not?

There are said to be certain groups who hold that the earth is as flat as it was pictured in pre-Columbian eras. Probably such persons would find it hard to conceive of the Earth as doing a non-stop whirling stunt through the heavens. But the rest of the civilized public has been persuaded from earliest school days that the Earth is almost round like an orange and that it revolves on an imaginary axis and swings around a grand circuit besides.

The ex-premier, who is a mathematician first and a politician afterwards, has been studying the Einstein theory with this result: he threatens to drop politics long enough to prove that the earth has stopped turning, and in fact that it never did turn.

Why, in this age, are locomotives still equipped with cowcatchers instead of automobile bumpers?

Riverside Seeks Industries

Riverside Press.

It is only in a limited way that Riverside can ever hope to be an industrial city. It is true, however, that there is a decided tendency towards the location of industrial plants in small cities rather than in great centers of population because living conditions are much better. Moreover, there are industries that may be called "indigenous" to Riverside county. One of these would be a citrus by-products plant; and it is strange that the home of the navel orange has never even developed a navel orange factory. Another line of industries based on the natural resources of the county is that for the use of clays. Riverside county is wonderfully rich in clays and there are now largely ripped away to make pottery, tiles and other clay products. Only a very limited amount of the clays mined in the county are used in the plants we have in the county. There is no sound reason why a great clay products industry could not be built up in Riverside. A cotton mill to utilize the cotton grown in Perris, Coachella and Palo Verde valleys is another possibility.

The move to arrange for an industrial tract that is now under consideration by the Riverside chamber of commerce is a good one. The offering of a site to an industrial proposition is a legitimate factor in location; and one difficulty in Riverside has been that this offer could not be made promptly when a location was under consideration. There are small industries that are desirable and that may develop into large enterprises in time. If the chamber of commerce was in position to offer space for the location of plants of that character, the inducement would be helpful in influencing a decision. Industrial schemes that are peddled from town to town seeking both sites and capital may usually be passed up very safely, but a proposition that is already financed and that only asks assistance in getting a location near the railroad is at least worth investigation and often friendly interest to the extent of land for a site.

The ideal situation would be for the chamber of commerce to own an industrial site tract, such as has been suggested by the Brown estate. Then the chamber would be in position to offer a free site where conditions seemed to justify or to sell a site on favorable terms. The city is in position to aid promising enterprises in the matter of rates for power and water. Redlands, Ontario, Santa Ana, Pomona and other cities have secured industries that could have been located in Riverside as advantageously as in these other cities; and there is no reason why Riverside should not be organized so as to offer legitimate inducements to sound industrial prospects. An industrial tract that could be subdivided into small or large holdings is a step in the right direction.

California Richest State

San Francisco Chronicle.

A survey of income and miscellaneous taxes collected by the internal revenue department during the last fiscal year and the income reported for taxation by corporations, partnerships and individuals, indicates that California is the richest state per capita in the Union. Internal revenue receipts in California from Federal taxes of all kinds were $131,653,000, which is $500,000 more than the total amount paid by the twelve western states of Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, Washington, Wyoming, North Dakota and with Alaska, Hawaii, the Philippine Islands and the Eastern states of Delaware, Vermont and New Hampshire thrown in for good measure.

California income tax receipts from corporations and individuals combined were $92,251,000, as against $81,860,000 from the states and territories above mentioned. In miscellaneous taxes California came to the front with $39,402,000, which exceeds by $7,000,000 the amount paid by these states and territories. California corporations reported a gross income of $4,144,920,000, as against $4,112,493,000 returned by Arizona, Idaho, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, Washington, Wyoming, South Dakota, North Dakota, Alaska, Hawaii, Delaware and Vermont. Partnerships in California reported an income of $95,788,000, compared with $94,036,000 reported by eleven Western states, Alaska and Hawaii. California reported $1,329,000,000 personal income, as against a combined income of $1,302,782,000 for Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, Washington, Wyoming, South Dakota, North Dakota, Alaska and Hawaii.

Make Your Selections

El Centro Press.

Lists of "bests" and "greatest" are growing more than a little wearying. Their constant production is beginning to look like more of that habit of passing the buck to which the nation seems at present to be addicted. It is so easy to read what someone else thinks are the ten best books, the ten greatest men in history, and so on. It seems so difficult for the average citizen to take hold of a good hard book, bite hard on it, chew it thoroughly, refuse to fill his mental stomach with trash while it takes its time to digest, and make good use of the strength it gives him after it is assimilated.

James Harvey Robinson, psychologist, asked by the American Magazine to make his list of the seven greatest Americans in our history, names Lincoln, Roosevelt, Rockefeller, Edison, Mark Twain, William James and John Dewey. He makes a case for each, though in some respects most people would have chosen differently.

If, instead of stimulating multitudes of readers to make out lists of their own, this list would stimulate them to reading one or two of the books of the authors represented on it, or doing some of the constructive things the doers wanted to get done, it might be worth while to consider it.

Lead the World to Peace

Long Beach Press.

Pervent advocacy of world peace came from orators throughout the country on Memorial Day. President Harding, at Arlington National Cemetery, urged that the United States "do its full part toward making war unlikely if not impossible." Falling into epigram, Mr. Harding said that "we have already moved that we can have less of armament, let us strive for the assurance that we shall have none of war."

Coupled with this earnest plea for peace was the urge that, should this country be forced to take arms, it put into the conflict all the Nation's resources—its wealth as well as its manhood.

"Let us strive for the assurance that we shall have none of war." This, indeed, is a noble aim. In this case and every loyal American; each and every humane, well-disposed person or group of this Nation and of other nations may and should join. Peace must come through the co-operative spirit of the masses of the people. There must be the will to peace. There must be the ardent love of peace in the breasts of the people. There must be the purpose to deal justly with all nations and peoples. There must be, in a word, that frame of mind and that disposition of heart which promote good will throughout the world.

Am I A Friend?

San Francisco Independent

How many can measure up to the term "I am a friend." The majority of us are looking for friends instead of being one. We all have our conceptions of what a friend should be, but we rarely turn the searchlight upon ourselves to see whether or not we are one. We think that to be a friend we need give our time and companionship only occasionally, as it suits our convenience; that our friends should ask little of us.

If we fancy the company of a new acquaintance whom we like to be with and upon asking him to join us on an excursion our invitation is politely refused we are disappointed, because we cannot have our way. We do not stop to consider whether our invitation fits into his plans, but declare, somewhat bitterly, "He could go if he wished—next time he won't be invited." If we are deserving of our new friend's permanent friendship we will not be aggrieved; we will be happy in the thought that he knows best and perhaps next time we may be more fortunate.

Many of us are supersensitive to criticism. In taking up a grievance or pointing out a fault do we, first of all, put kindness into our voice, or do we show in our face, by expression, that we are censuring before we speak a word. A tactful, kindly approach always softens the blow. After all, what right have we to sit in judgment even if we think we know more or should correct the fault? The other fellow may need setting straight but one who is a friend never fails to point out the error in the right manner and tone.

Years of acquaintanceship do not make you a real friend. You may not have earned the right to the honor. It is possible you are thoughtless, selfish, inconsiderate of another's cherished views, may poke fun at them occasionally, and yet you wonder why your companionship is not more often sought when you like your friend so much.

It is a precious privilege to be a friend and in a hundred little ways one can be a genuine friend to the newly-made acquaintance as easily as to the friend one has known for years. Opportunities develop every day to prove whether or not you are big enough to wear the title "I am a friend." The number that can qualify is exceedingly small, for the correct understanding of the term has not been learned by some.

A great deterrent to being a friend is Success and Business. We become successful in our work and happily busy which makes us independent until a blow befalls, and then intuitively we want a friend, not remembering "Have I been one to him?" The only way to have friends is to be one, not only to those to whom we are naturally attracted but to our daily associates many of whom would be buoyed by the knowledge that our friendship extends beyond our personal choice. The world is starving for friendship expressed in kindness, interest, appreciation and affection which we can all supply.

Worth While Verse

PICTURE OF EVENING

Rumbling goes a wagon, with a sweet load of clover,
Jolting up the shoulder and tilted 'gainst the sky;
Pearl gray's the sunset and the hard day's over,
Quiet is the valley as the cart creaks by.

Dusky are the pine trees with a gray mist stealing,
Softly in the brushwood the breezes linger nigh,
Half heard and mellow are the church bells pealing,
Far across the valley where the night winds sigh.

Down between the tree trunks, in the half light and shadow,
Faintly shine the lamps where the hidden houses lie;
Dark gray and hazy, near the dim, dark meadow,
With a quiet, peaceful plodding the cart creaks by.

A man who said his name was George Barlow was arrested near a residence on West Third street, and charged with disturbing the peace. Barlow, who was caught by Officer Murray and George Spangler, local blacksmith, was believed to be the "peeping Tom" who had been peering into Santa Ana windows late at night.

Mrs. J. W. Shields was badly injured last night when the buggy in which she was riding was struck by an automobile, driven by Dr. A. R. Hervey. The accident occurred at the corner of Sixth and Spurgeon streets.

Orange county will have two forest fire patrols this summer. Forest Supervisor Marshall announced. Forest Ranger Burt Stephenson will be located south of the Trabuco and County Warden Walter Robinson will be located north of the Trabuco.

Articles of incorporation of the Chamberlain Land company were filed at Los Angeles. It is the purpose of this concern to take control of Gibraltar Island or Coney Island, in the channel of Newport Bay, and build a new resort. About $7500 will be spent in improvements.

C. A. Merritt, a driver for the South Side Market, of Orange, was injured when he was thrown from his delivery wagon on North Main street, near the residence of M. N. Nisson. Merritt was unconscious two hours.

The Misses Myrtle Cartwright, Ananay Chum, Inez Finley, Margaret Thilston and Muriel McPhee and Ross McPhee, Willard Cain and Elwell Squires participated in a recital given by the pupils of Prof. and Mrs. Andrist.

The Rev. John Cronenberg, pastor of the First Christian church, closed his term at the local church. Crowded houses heard his morning and evening sermons yesterday.

Edward Reinert, charged with attempting to kill C. N. Gray, was on trial before a jury in the courtroom of Judge Z. B. West. B. F. Porter, Bert Annin, A. Pirie, A. R. Todhunter, D. W. Gruell, F. R. Aldrich, D. W. Ellis, William Boyer and W. J. Cheney were selected as jurors. Reinert was defended by Attorneys R. Y. Williams, A. W. Rutan and L. A. West. District Attorney S. M. Davis prosecuted.

By means of a system of catch basins, Dayton and other towns in the Miami valley of Ohio are now safeguarded against floods. Five large earth dams have been constructed to form great flood-retarding basins. In flood time, channels, leading out from these basins allow only a certain amount of water to pass continually through, and the excess water is stored in the basins until gradually discharged. In case of a flood of exceptional proportions, the dams are so built that the flood waters back up above the dams, where thirty-six thousand acres of flat lands will receive the overflow.

Health Notes

HEALTH EDUCATION

The outstanding development in education since the war has been the prominent place health instruction has taken in the teaching curriculum. This is the opinion of Miss Sally Lucas Jean, director of health education of the American Child Health association, expressed at the annual meeting of the national conference of Social Work at Washington.

Educators of today agree that health comes first, community service second, academic teaching third and use of leisure time fourth, said Miss Jean.

"As there is less tradition in the teaching of health," she said, "the strides taken in that direction have been greater. Teaching of facts, unrelated to the child's own daily needs, is giving place rapidly to the interesting of the child himself in health activities. Bathing and teeth cleaning have become as much a part of daily teaching as reading and writing; while many cities boast of the thousands of quarts of milk consumed daily by the children in the schools, the records of which are accurately kept by grammar grade children in their arithmetic periods."

"Most hopeful of all, universities and normal colleges are announcing health education courses. The health of the student teacher is assuming importance. One large teaching institution has announced that graduate students would not be recommended for positions unless a fair standard of personal health had been obtained. 'Out-door-mindedness' is credited in one normal college, while a clear complexion is recognized as well as knowledge of the circulatory system. The promise of a beautiful skin at twenty-five is of little interest to the eighteen-year-old girl, while she is ready and willing to eat even the despised spinach if she becomes conscious today of the relationship between green vegetables and the desired rosy cheeks."

American Canned Goods in Demand

The acquaintance which the foreign world made with American canned foodstuffs during the war has developed a permanent post-war demand for this product of our industries. Figures compiled by the Trade Record of The National City Bank of New York show that the exports of canned foodstuffs in the post-war years average five times as much in value as in the years preceding the war, and that the canned foods exported from the United States since the beginning of the war aggregate a billion dollars in value. Prior to the war the exports of canned goods aggregated about 15 million dollars a year; now they are running at about 75 millions a year.

This permanent evidence of a big export trade in this line, says the Trade Record, is the result of a century of experimental work by the food and agricultural experts of the country. It was in 1820 that the first serious attempts were made in the United States in this line by the establishment in Boston of a factory for the "preservation of perishable foods in hermetically sealed cans," and a century later the census of the country showed an output of 628 million dollars value of the canning and preserving industry against 50 million dollars in 1899, the first year in which the industry was included in census records.

That the financial and business interests of the country recognized the value of this new industry is apparent from the fact that the capital invested in the canning and preserving industry is official and preserved in the census of the census of 1890 and 1920. The sums paid for the materials used in the canning and preserving establishments advanced from 30 million dollars in 1899 to 412 million dollars in 1919.

Even these enormous totals do not include the meats and soups canned by the great meat packing establishments or the condensed and evaporated milk which have become such an important factor in both the domestic and export trade, though the value of the canned goods exported does include all canned meats, and condensed and evaporated milk.

All the world asks for our canned goods. They go to every country and continent, but the growth has been most striking in the countries which made their acquaintance during the war.

California, New York and Maryland are, in the order named, the biggest producers of canned goods, but the industry now extends to practically every state.

Longest Married

The longest matrimonial record in the history of the pension office of the interior department was revealed today in the examination of a claim for a pension by Catherine A. Wheeler of Union, Oklahoma.

It showed that Mrs. Wheeler had lived with her husband, a Civil War veteran, for a period of 73 years, 3 months and 9 days. She was married to him December 9, 1849 (in Edgar county, Illinois, and he died in Union, Oklahoma, March 18, 1923).

Mrs. Wheeler at the present time is 91 years of age and her husband, Andrew Y. Wheeler, was 98 years old at the time of his death. During the Civil War he served in the Twenty-eighth infantry and was on the pension rolls for many years.

After his death in March, Mrs. Wheeler filed a claim with the pension bureau and the unprecedented length of her married life was brought out when the bureau began an examination of her right to a widow's pension.—From the Department of the Interior.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 1—CHOO-CHOO LAND

"All aboard for Choo-Choo Land!" called Mister Toots, the engineer. Nancy and Nick, who were talking to the Fairy Queen, hastily said goodbye and ran and jumped on one of the tiny cars of the Choo-Choo Land Express just as it pulled out of the station.

It left every day at 10 o'clock and if you missed it you had to wait until the next day at 10 o'clock. And it was most important that the Twins should not be delayed, for they were off to hunt for Nancy's rag doll.

Ruby Joan was her name and either she had run away or been kidnapped or gone visiting or got lost or something else terrible had happened to her, for she wasn't in the play room or anywhere in the house.

The Fairy Queen, learning of the trouble, had promised to help, so she gave the Twins free tickets on Mister Toots' train and told them to look in every town in Choo-Choo Land.

Rp! Rp! Rp! went the whistle. Toot! Toot! Toot! it went still louder.

The wheels turned, the trees began to fly by, the whole world seemed a whirl.

The Choo-Choo Land Express was rushing along so fast it almost took the Twins' breath away.
